U.S. Losses In War Zone Exceed Viets'

Week's Tabulation Shows 82 Yanks Killed in Action

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — More Americans were killed in combat last week than troops of the South Vietnamese government, allied military spokesmen announced today.

It was the second time that American combat dead exceeded the Vietnamese in the five years of American involvement in the war.

Spokesmen announced 82 Americans died in battle last week compared with 61 Vietnamese, although the size of the government armed forces is nearly triple that of the 255,000-man U.S. force here.

It was also the lowest number of Vietnamese battle deaths this year.

During the politically turbulent week of April 3-9, 95 Americans were killed in combat compared with 67 government troops.

The 82 Americans killed brought the number of U.S. combat dead to an unofficial total of 1,386 for the year and 3,234 since Jan. 1, 1961. The Vietnamese report 3,34 killed for the year.

Viet Cong losses were reported as 456 killed — the same figure as the previous week — and 121 captured, an increase of 23. As the war continued today, U.S. Marines and airborne troops battled the Viet Cong in three operations while American planes continued to pound targets in North Viet Nam.

Iraq Troops, Kurd Rebels Said Battling

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Large-scale battles—with tanks, artillery and air attacks—have erupted again in northern Iraq between government forces and rebel Kurdish tribes, reports reaching Beirut said today.

At the same time, Kurdish sources reported, indirect negotiations are under way between the rebel tribesmen and Iraq's new president, Maj. Gen. Abdel Rahman Aref, to end the five-year-old war in the north.

There was no official confirmation from Iraq. The Baghdad regime is reluctant to publicize the Kurdish problem.

Kurdish sources in contact with northern Iraq claimed that two Iraqi divisions, supported by armor, artillery and Soviet-supplied Iraqi air force planes, launched an assault against the Kurds about 10 days ago in the mountainous Ruwanduz region near the border of Iran.

The Kurdish rebel radio station claimed the attacks had been repulsed and there were hundreds of dead and wounded.

Live Manikins Dress in Window

LONDON (AP)—Henry Moss replaced the wax models in his shop window Wednesday with scantily clad girls and stopped traffic in Carnaby Street, the home of British "mod" fashion.

Motorists and pedestrians gaped and halted as Diane James, 18, and Gina Baker, 19, stepped into the window clad in panties and bras.

Cheers turned to boos when the pretty models started to dress. After donning pants suits, they stripped and put on evening dresses.

With the narrow street blocked by cars and about 300 people, police moved in to get traffic moving again.

Moss said he was paying the girls 5 pounds ($14) a day "plus brandy to keep them warm."

Moon Landing Vehicle Passes Its Initial Test

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP) — The Surveyor vehicle for unmanned, soft moon landings has made its first descent without the aid of parachutes, clearing the way for its first lunar mission May 30.

The spacecraft landed successfully Wednesday at Holloman Air Force Base near Alamogordo after a 36-second descent which began with Surveyor's release from a balloon at an altitude of almost 1,000 feet.

Tests had been under way at Holloman for more than a year, but previously parachutes had been used to assist Surveyor in part of the descent.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) will not commit men to moon journeys until more is learned about the lunar surface. Surveyor would send back this data.

History's first soft landing on the moon was made Feb. 3 by Russia's Luna 9. NASA officials have conceded that Luna 9 gave Russia a lead in the unmanned phase of the moon race but not necessarily the overall edge.

Because of the complexity of the mission, seven identical Surveyors are being built in hopes that at least one will succeed before the end of 1967.

The Surveyor program had an original 1963 target date for a lunar landing but ran into troubles. The program was called by a congressional committee "one of the least orderly and most poorly executed of NASA projects."

The Holloman test director for Surveyor, G. P. Steffen of Hughes Aircraft Co., said that Wednesday was the first time a complete descent under Surveyor's own power had been attempted.

School Paper Banned, Used Word 'Nigger'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A student literary magazine was banned from sale Wednesday because a story by the stepdaughter of a Pulitzer Prize-winning newspaperman used the word "nigger."

Columbus School Supt. Harold H. Eibling ordered sales of Folio, a collection of literary efforts by students at Whetstone High School, halted. He also ordered return of all copies which had been sold.

He said a story by Celia Drake, 17, "repeatedly employed a degrading term for the word Negro" and "its publication was totally contrary to the established policy and practice of the Columbus City School District."

Miss Drake's stepfather, Ira Harkey, said the action "sounds like the height of stupidity." Harkey, who won a Pulitzer Prize in 1963 while with the Pascagoula (Miss.) Chronicle, said the story is about white families rearing children to hate Negroes.

"That's the way those people talk," said Harkey, now a journalism teacher at Ohio State University. "You can't talk about the south without using the word."

Steffen said the May 30 launch at Cape Kennedy, Fla., aboard an Atlas-Centaur vehicle would have been delayed if Wednesday's test had failed.

The engines of the 225-pound Surveyor vehicle slowed the descent from a velocity of 55 feet per second to 5 feet per second, or about 3.5 miles per hour, at impact. The lunar landing version will weigh more than 2,000 pounds but will be operating in the much weaker gravity of the moon.

FDR Jr. Set To Campaign For Governor

NEW YORK (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt, son of the 32nd president, today declared himself a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of New York.

In a prepared statement for a news conference at his campaign headquarters, Roosevelt said, "I am entering the race for governor because I love politics and a good political fight and above all I love New York and its people."

Roosevelt's entry into the race had been rumored for several months. He will be making his second bid for the nomination for governor, an office held for two two-year terms by his father before he was elected president in 1932.

Roosevelt, 51, resigned in Washington Wednesday as chairman of the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission after weeks of speculation that he would make the move. He had been chairman since July 2, 1965, when the commission went into operation.

Two other men already are declared candidates for the nomination to oppose Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who is seeking a third term. They are Eugene H. Nickerson, Nassau County executive, and Howard Samuels, an upstate industrialist.

Irish Eyes Not Smiling On Irish Family's Dog

NEW YORK (AP) — Don't tell George Jones that the Irish are great lovers of horses and dogs.

Irish eyes didn't smile on Kim, a mixture of boxer and terrier, says Jones, 68. So he gave up his hopes of retiring to County Cork with his wife, Julia, 61, and Kim, who is 10.

"The Irish don't have any heart. They didn't seem to understand the attachment a man can have for an animal," said Jones today at the home of a friend in Queens.

He's staying there because he sold his house before leaving for Ireland three weeks ago.

As Jones tells the story, Irish customs officials at Shannon Airport told him Kim would have to stay in quarantine for six months. That's the law, and the tearful pleas of Jones and his wife couldn't swing an exception.

Ambassador Lodge To Be Heard

Viet Poll Prospects Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Abraham Ribicoff said today if the military government of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky supervises elections in South Viet Nam, the outcome will be contested—and perhaps rejected.

And Sen. Albert Gore said he hopes U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge will return to Saigon with explicit instructions from the White House to support free elections in the warring Southeast Asian nation.

The two Democrats, Ribicoff of Connecticut and Gore of Tennessee, talked of the projected elections at the Senate Foreign Relations Committee summoned Lodge to a closed-door session on the Viet Nam situation.

Ribicoff urged Senate approval of his resolution asking President Johnson to seek election supervision by U.N. observers.

"If the Ky government supervises elections," Ribicoff's statement said, "the results will be contested—and may well be rejected—by the other element of the Viet Nam power struggle."

"Poll-watchers supported by the United States alone would also be unsatisfactory," the senator added.

Lodge, back from the war one for consultations, conferred Tuesday night with President Johnson and the National Security Council. Secrecy has shrouded the substance of Lodge's discussions.

Another item before the committee today: A proposal to give it a share in supervision of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., is pressing that bid, seeking seats for three foreign relations committeemen on the Senate panel which oversees the secret intelligence agency.

It is now composed of senators from the armed services and appropriations committee. Sen. Richard Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the CIA panel, opposes the McCarthy plan.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has declared the administration supports elections in the south, and pledged that American forces there will not interfere with balloting—by Communists if they choose to vote.

Secretary of State Rusk, facing hot and sometimes hostile committee questioning Monday, insisted that the United States supports elections.

And Rusk expressed confidence that elections will be held in September to choose a constitutional assembly to draft a constitution.

Gore, who has proposed an election-time cease-fire in the Vietnamese war, said he hopes Lodge's White House consultations will lead to firm instructions on a U.S. commitment to the course of free elections.

As for his cease-fire proposal, Gore said he has had no response from the administration, and is not pressing for one at this point.

Nike Missiles Pass New Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has taken a hard look at its Nike Hercules air defense missiles in the light of the poor performance of Russian-built SAM anti-aircraft missiles in North Viet Nam.

Its conclusion: The U.S. missiles do not have the same weaknesses and no major adjustments are needed in Nike Hercules defense.

Sources said today Army air defense commanders were asked to re-examine their doctrine and capabilities months ago after the Russian-built SAMs appeared in North Viet Nam.

Details of the study are secret, but it was understood that the Nike Hercules radar — vital to the killing ability of the missile — was rated superior to the Soviet SAM radar equipment and less subject to evasion.

The re-examination took account of special tactics developed by U.S. Air Force, Navy and Marine fliers in dealing with the SAMs in their forays into North Viet Nam.

"We think our batteries would score much higher kills than the North Vietnamese," said one source.

The Sams, believed to be manned by North Vietnamese crews, have knocked down fewer than 20 of the 235 U.S. warplanes lost above the 17th parallel.

Some U.S. military men believe the SAMs would do better if they were handed by Russian firing crews. Russians have been serving as advisers and trainers, according to information available here.

Among other things, the U.S. Army missile men were told to see what could be learned from the mobility of the Communist weapons.

No U.S. Army air defense commander came up with any suggestion for major change, although there was some feeling that Nike Hercules units might practice moving about more than they do.

Though classified as semimobile, most Nike Hercules batteries are emplaced in rather fixed positions around cities and bases in the United States and abroad.

Railroads' Merger Up to Stockholders

ROANOKE, Va. (AP)—Stockholders of the Norfolk & Western Railway were scheduled to vote here today on the line's proposed $6 billion merger with the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Co.

C&O stockholders were slated to take up the proposal in Cleveland.

Should the merger be approved by two-thirds of the stockholders of both concerns, it still would need the authorization of the Interstate Commerce Commission and face possible litigation in the courts.

There was uncertainty over how ballots would be cast here by three trustees who represent the Pennsylvania Railroad Co.

The N&W's outstanding stock but has been ordered by the ICC to sell it by 1974.

That was a condition of earlier ICC approval of another N & W merger. Since then the ICC has authorized creation of the $6 billion Penn - Central system through merger of Pennsy and New York Central.

The N&W and C&O have argued their proposed merger is necessary to create a system comparable and competitive with the Penn-Central, which probably will go into operation early this summer.

Bloodhounds Seek Kidnaped Girl, 17

HUNTINGTON, Pa. (AP) — State policemen using bloodhounds worked their way through heavy woods today searching for a girl abducted by an armed man Wednesday.

State police said the man, armed with lever-action rifle, matched the description of a "mystery sniper" who has prowled this area for two years. He has wounded two people and shot at several others.

The girl, Betty Ann Bradnick, 17, accompanied by three young sisters and two brothers, was on her way home from school, police said, when a man carrying a rifle jumped out of the woods, seized her and dragged her away.

Police Judge Is Victim Of Thieves 2 Times

Harsha Says Rusk Should Quit His Job

William H. Harsha, the Ohio 6th District's Republican representative, today called for the resignation of Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

In explaining his position, Harsha said any man who advocated helping communist nations that are furnishing supplies and weapons to our enemies in Viet Nam should not be directing the foreign policy of this nation.

In demanding the resignation of Rusk, the Ohio solon said his action was based on the secretary's letter to Congress Wednesday which requested authority to ease trade restrictions with Russia and other iron curtain countries, granting them "most favored nation" treatment.

"If it is the policy of this nation," Harsha said, "to help communist countries improve their economic posture by extending to them trade concessions and thereby enabling them to better supply our enemies with weapons, then this nation has no right to ask our boys to die fighting communists in Viet Nam, or elsewhere, for that matter."

THE CONGRESSMAN said President Johnson is critical of the critics of his policies in Viet Nam, claiming that any criticism of the administration's handling of the crisis is affecting the morale of our armed forces there.

"Surely," he added "the morale of our troops will now reach a new low with this trade announcement by the administration."

Harsha said the idea of enhancing the economy of a communist nation is beyond his comprehension. "A secretary of state who advocates such a policy has no business directing the foreign policy of this nation," he declared.

Polioed Mom Fears Loss Of Babies

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mrs. Barbara Brooks is fearful that she will have to give up her 2-month-old twin daughters because she cannot hold them as securely as other mothers can.

Mrs. Brooks, 28, was stricken with polio in 1951 and it left her with crippled arms and only a third of her breathing capacity. She has use of her hands, but can't lift or hold anything weighing more than eight pounds. Each of the babies now weighs seven pounds.

"If I don't get someone to help me I'll have to give up my twins," Mrs. Brooks said Wednesday. "My hands are good but I can't lift them above my head. I'm sure I could have managed with one baby, but with two I need someone to help. I don't want my babies in foster homes."

The twins, Kendra and Kimberly, were born prematurely March 13.

Mrs. Brooks' biggest problem is carrying for the twins while her husband, Kenneth, is at work as a trade apprentice. She said she had advertised for help but received no reasonable response and now she fears she may have to turn over the infants to others who can care for them.

Primary Polls Show No Trend

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nine states have now held primaries without any indication to date of major impact at the polls from two chief concerns among voters — the war in Viet Nam and the rising cost of living.

Historically, any widespread sense of discomfort or dissatisfaction has reacted against the ins, no matter of which party. Yet in the primaries thus far the voters have evidenced no disposition to turn out incumbent members of Congress who were challenged within their own parties.

Nevertheless, political strategists are holding to their estimates that what happens in the congressional elections next fall will be greatly influenced by the developments meantime in Viet Nam and on the price front.

In the normal course, the minority party picks up seats in the House of Representatives in an off year election, particularly when it has lost heavily in the

Gemini 9 All Ready For Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — With two straight days of successful major tests behind, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration was confident today it could launch the Gemini 9 astronauts on time next Tuesday on a rendezvous and space-walk mission.

The Gemini 9 pilots, Air Force Lt. Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan, participated Wednesday in a day-long series of rehearsals involving simulated landings, emergency situations and orbital exercises.

The tests followed Tuesday's flawless practice of the dual countdown involving Atlas-Agena and Titan 2 rockets.

The Atlas is to boost the Agena into orbit at 11 a.m., EDT, Tuesday. The Titan 2 is to follow 39 minutes later, to start Gemini 9 in pursuit.

Stafford and Cernan plan several linkups with the Agena and Cerna is to take a record space walk of 2 hours 25 minutes during the flight.

A check of the worldwide tracking network is scheduled Friday. The astronauts will receive their final major physical examination Saturday. They will devote much of the remaining time before Tuesday to practice runs in a spacecraft simulator and to reviewing the complex flight plan for the three-day journey.

U.S. Said 'Too Big To Be Loved'

NEW YORK (AP) — Prime Minister Lester Pearson of Canada says the United States has grown "too big, too strong and too rich to be loved."

In a speech Wednesday night at a dinner sponsored by the School of International Affairs of Columbia University, Pearson said:

"The U.S., of course, must continue to bear the biggest share of the burden that comes from greater involvement and extended participation.

"Moreover, you have to bear this international burden without hope of material gain or expectation of popular gratitude," the prime minister said.

presidential year as the Republicans did in 1964.

Thus, the GOP will have to gain a substantial number of House seats in order to claim a success in this year' campaigning.

Picking any number as the break even point between success and failure could bring arguments on both sides.

But Chairman John M. Bailey told the Democratic National Committee earlier this year that historically the party in power loses 37 seats in the House in an off year election. He reminded that the Democrats lost 77 seats in 1940, two years after a landslide victory by Franklin D. Roosevelt in the presidential election.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen has been talking of a possible GOP pick-up of 59 seats.

Holding 140 seats now, the Republicans would have to gain 78 in order to take control of the 435-member House.

Of the nine states which have held primaries, six have elections this year for the Senate but in only two were incumbent senators opposed in the primary. Democratic Sens. John J. Sparkman of Alabama and Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma breed to renomination in primaries.

Democratic Sens. Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico and Jennings Randolph of West Virginia had no party opposition. Neither did Republican Sens. Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska and John G. Tower of Texas.

Crop Losses May Up Price

Ohio Damage Set At $15 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio housewives already embattled in trying to stretch their grocery budgets to meet rising prices may have more of a problem as a result of this week's unseasonal weather.

The damage of up to $15 million that the State Agriculture Director, John Stackhouse, made as a preliminary estimate from freezing effects on fruit and vegetable crops in Ohio could cost the consumer.

Some wholesalers indicate this could be the case although Stackhouse said it was too early to tell.

The Kroger Co., grocery chain based in Cincinnati, said it will take at least two weeks to determine effect on prices. A spokesman said they can tell now, though, that strawberries and early tomatoes will "come pretty high."

Rain was general and temperatures climbed across Ohio during the night. Rainfall amounts ranged from near an inch in the central and southern counties.

By dawn today temperatures had climbed to 62 at Chesapeake 51 at Columbus and 45 at Toledo.

A low pressure area approaching from the west was to cause gusty southerly winds today, lifting temperatures further into the 60s. Showers and thunderstorms were to occur until evening.

Tonight will be cloudy and cooler.

Friday also will be cloudy and cooler. Another low pressure area now forming in the southwest may send more rain into southern counties by afternoon.

Secretary of State Rusk, facing hot and sometimes hostile committee questioning Monday, insisted that the United States supports elections.

And Rusk expressed confidence that elections will be held in September to choose a constituent assembly to draft a constitution.

Gore, who has proposed an election-time cease-fire in the Vietnamese war, said he hopes Lodge's White House consultations will lead to firm instructions on a U.S. commitment to the course of free elections.

As for his cease-fire proposal, Gore said he has had no response from the administration, and is not pressing for one at this point.

Nike Missiles Pass New Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has taken a hard look at its Nike Hercules air defense missiles in the light of the poor performance of Russian-built SAM anti-aircraft missiles in North Viet Nam.

Its conclusion: The U.S. missiles do not have the same weaknesses and no major adjustments are needed in Nike Hercules defense.

Sources said today Army air defense commanders were asked to re-examine their doctrine and capabilities months ago after the Russian-built SAMs appeared in North Viet Nam.

Details of the study are secret, but it was understood that the Nike Hercules radar — vital to the killing ability of the missile — was rated superior to the Soviet SAM radar equipment and less subject to evasion.

The re-examination took account of special tactics developed by U.S. Air Force, Navy and Marine fliers in dealing with the SAMs in their forays into North Viet Nam.

"We think our batteries would score much higher kills than the North Vietnamese," said one source.

The Sams, believed to be manned by North Vietnamese crews, have knocked down fewer than 20 of the 235 U.S. warplanes lost above the 17th parallel.

Some U.S. military men believe the SAMs would do better if they were handed by Russian firing crews. Russians have been serving as advisers and trainers, according to information available here.

Among other things, the U.S. Army missile men were told to see what could be learned from the mobility of the Communist weapons.

No U.S. Army air defense commander came up with any suggestion for major change, although there was some feeling that Nike Hercules units might practice moving about more than they do.

Though classified as semimobile, most Nike Hercules batteries are emplaced in rather fixed positions around cities and bases in the United States and abroad.

Railroads' Merger Up to Stockholders

ROANOKE, Va. (AP)—Stockholders of the Norfolk & Western Railway were scheduled to vote here today on the line's proposed $6 billion merger with the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Co.

C&O stockholders were slated to take up the proposal in Cleveland.

Should the merger be approved by two-thirds of the stockholders of both concerns, it still would need the authorization of the Interstate Commerce Commission and face possible litigation in the courts.

There was uncertainty over how ballots would be cast here by three trustees who represent the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. The Pennsylvania owns 25 per cent of the N&W's outstanding stock but has been ordered by the ICC to sell it by 1974.

That was a condition of earlier ICC approval of another N & W merger. Since then the ICC has authorized creation of the $6 billion Penn-Central system through merger of Pennsy and New York Central.

The N&W and C&O have argued their proposed merger is necessary to create a system comparable and competitive with the Penn-Central, which probably will go into operation early this summer.

Bloodhounds Seek Kidnaped Girl, 17

HUNTINGTON, Pa. (AP) — State policemen using bloodhounds worked their way through heavy woods today searching for a girl abducted by an armed man Wednesday.

State police said the man, armed with lever-action rifle, matched the description of a "mystery sniper" who has provided this area for two years. He has wounded two people and shot at several others.

The girl, Betty Ann Bradnick, 17, accompanied by three young sisters and two brothers, was on her way home from school, police said, when a man carrying a rifle jumped out of the woods, seized her and dragged her away.

Police Judge Is Victim Of Thieves 2 Times

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP) — Police Judge Tom Smith thought the thieves who took his clothes from an automatic coin laundry Sunday were brash.

Then Wednesday his portrait was stolen from behind his desk. The desk is in his office, which is in the police station.

Harsha Says Rusk Should Quit His Job

William H. Harsha, the Ohio 6th District's Republican representative, today called for the resignation of Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

In explaining his position, Harsha said any man who advocated helping communist nations that are furnishing supplies and weapons to our enemies in Viet Nam should not be directing the foreign policy of this nation.

In demanding the resignation of Rusk, the Ohio solon said his action was based on the secretary's letter to Congress Wednesday which requested authority to ease trade restrictions with Russia and other iron curtain countries, granting them "most favored nation" treatment.

"If it is the policy of this nation," Harsha said, "To help communist countries improve their economic posture by extending to them trade concessions and thereby enabling them to better supply our enemies with weapons, then this nation has no right to ask our boys to die fighting communists in Viet Nam, or elsewhere, for that matter."

THE CONGRESSMAN said President Johnson is critical of the critics of his policies in Viet Nam, claiming that any criticism of the administration's handling of the crisis is affecting the morale of our armed forces there.

"Surely," he added "the morale of our troops will now reach a new low with this trade announcement by the administration."

Harsha said the idea of enhancing the economy of a communist nation is beyond his comprehension. "A secretary of state who advocates such a policy has no business directing the foreign policy of this nation," he declared.

Polioed Mom Fears Loss Of Babies

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mrs. Barbara Brooks is fearful that she will have to give up her 2-month-old twin daughters because she cannot hold them as securely as other mothers can.

Mrs. Brooks, 28, was stricken with polio in 1951 and it left her with crippled arms and only a third of her breathing capacity. She has use of her hands, but can't lift or hold anything weighing more than eight pounds. Each of the babies now weighs seven pounds.

"If I don't get someone to help me I'll have to give up my twins," Mrs. Brooks said Wednesday. "My hands are good but I can't lift them above my head. I'm sure I could have managed with one baby, but with two I need someone to help. I don't want my babies in foster homes."

The twins, Kendra and Kimberly, were born prematurely March 13.

Mrs. Brooks' biggest problem is carrying for the twins while her husband, Kenneth, is at work as a trade apprentice. She said she had advertised for help but received no reasonable response and now she fears she may have to turn over the infants to others who can care for them.

Primary Polls Show No Trend

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nine states have now held primaries without any indication to date of major impact at the polls from two chief concerns among voters — the war in Viet Nam and the rising cost of living.

Historically, any widespread sense of discomfort or dissatisfaction has reacted against the ins, no matter of which party. Yet in the primaries thus far the voters have evidenced no disposition to turn out incumbent members of Congress who were challenged within their own parties.

Nevertheless, political strategists are holding to their estimates that what happens in the congressional elections next fall will be greatly influenced by the developments meantime in Viet Nam and on the price front.

In the normal course, the minority party picks up seats in the House of Representatives in an off year election, particularly when it has lost heavily in the presidential year as the Republicans did in 1964.

Thus, the GOP will have to gain a substantial number of House seats in order to claim a success in this year's campaigning.

Picking any number as the break even point between success and failure could bring arguments on both sides.

But Chairman John M. Bailey told the Democratic National Committee earlier this year that historically the party in power loses 37 seats in the House in an off year election. He reminded that the Democrats lost 77 seats in 1940, two years after a landslide victory by Franklin D. Roosevelt in the presidential election.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen has been talking of a possible GOP pick-up of 59 seats.

Holding 140 seats now, the Republicans would have to gain 78 in order to take control of the 435-member House.

Of the nine states which have held primaries, six have elections this year for the Senate but in only two were incumbent senators opposed in the primary. Democratic Sens. John J. Sparkman of Alabama and Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma breed to renomination in primaries.

Democratic Sens. Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico and Jennings Randolph of West Virginia had no party opposition. Neither did Republican Sens. Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska and John G. Tower of Texas.

Crop Losses May Up Price

Ohio Damage Set At $15 Million

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio housewives already embattled in trying to stretch their grocery budgets to meet rising prices may have more of a problem as a result of this week's unseasonal weather.

The damage of up to $15 million that the State Agriculture Director, John Stackhouse, made as a preliminary estimate from freezing effects on fruit and vegetable crops in Ohio could cost the consumer.

Some wholesalers indicate this could be the case although Stackhouse said it was too early to tell.

The Kroger Co., grocery chain based in Cincinnati, said it will take at least two weeks to determine effect on prices. A spokesman said they can tell now, though, that strawberries and early tomatoes will "come pretty high."

Rain was general and temperatures climbed across Ohio during the night. Rainfall amounts ranged from near an inch in the central and southern counties.

By dawn today temperatures had climbed to 62 at Chesapeake 31 at Columbus and 45 at Toledo.

A low pressure area approaching from the west was to cause gusty southerly winds today, lifting temperatures further into the 60s. Showers and thunderstorms were to occur until evening.

Tonight will be cloudy and cooler.

Friday also will be cloudy and cooler. Another low pressure area now forming in the southwest may send more rain into southern counties by afternoon.

U.S. Said 'Too Big To Be Loved'

NEW YORK (AP) — Prime Minister Lester Pearson of Canada says the United States has grown "too big, too strong and too rich to be loved."

In a speech Wednesday night at a dinner sponsored by the School of International Affairs of Columbia University, Pearson said:

"The U.S., of course, must continue to bear the biggest share of the burden that comes from greater involvement and extended participation."

"Moreover, you have to bear this international burden without hope of material gain or expectation of popular gratitude," the prime minister said.

'Miracle Worker' Staging Presented by CHS Seniors

At 8 p. m. Friday and Saturday the curtain will raise in the Circleville High School auditorium on one of the most difficult plays ever attempted by the local high school.

The two performances are being staged by the CHS senior class and is the culmination of weeks of rigorous, nerve-shattering rehearsals. The play is "The Miracle Worker."

Well-known to theater buffs for its dramatic offering, "The Miracle Worker" is based on the early life of Helen Keller, born blind and deaf. The Broadway version was later made into a movie with the original star, Patty Duke, as Helen.

In the CHS version, Sherry Garner will be seen as the blind, deaf mute. Linda Bowers has the role of Annie Sullivan, Helen's teacher and governess.

OTHER members of the cast include Christine Zehner as Kate Keller; Jim Archer as Captain Keller; Randy Nelson as James Keller; Leann Gross as Aunt Ev; Roger Grigg as Anagnos; Arnold Martin as the doctor; Dan Teal, Zuella Coleman as the children; Cynthia Brackett, Sonnie Stone and Cheryl Burton as the blind girls; and Jill Robertson as Vi-ney.

The play itself has humorous scenes, scenes that touch the heart and others that are violent and sometimes nauseating. Sherry Garner as Helen and Linda Bowers as Miss Sullivan, in particular, worked to the point of exhaustion at rehearsals, according to Ron Mead, director of the class play.

In the role of Helen, Miss Garner has no speaking part. But, what is expected of her physically during the two-hour staging is "guaranteed to exhaust the audience," Mead noted.

Miss Bowers, as Helen's teacher, is on the receiving end of many kicks and blows during tests of temperament in teaching Helen to live like a human being instead of an animal, the director stated. In fact, during one rehearsal Miss Bowers received a cut during a staged struggle between herself and her pupil.

Glenn Plum is technical director for the staging. A unique set was constructed for the limited stage and much of the action depends upon the technical lighting.

HANDLING backstage activity are Ellisa Evans as student coordinator and John Owens as stage manager. Reserved tickets are on sale in the main hall of the high school everyday until 5 p. m. Tickets may also be purchased at the door on the night of performances.

Local Group Hears Talk by RCA Official

Unlimited possibilities in electronics was the program topic when approximately 60 local businessmen met for a breakfast session at 7 a. m. today at Pickaway Arms.

Predicting great strides in the electronics field was guest speaker Leo F. Holleran, a commercial relations executive with Radio Corporation of America. The Chicago based official was sponsored here by the Retail Merchants Committee of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce.

Holleran said great future strides are evident in most realms of business. He said both producers and consumers are expressing optimistic views despite inflationary tendencies. The RCA executive, originally scheduled to comment on customer relations, touched briefly on the subject by describing new methods for acquiring appeal in merchandising.

He said each area or community has its own specific problems in the way of retailing and improving customer relations.

Civil Service Exams Graded

Five Applicants Earn Satisfactory Scores

Vernon Hawkes, secretary of the Circleville Municipal Civil Service Commission, announced two applicants for patrolman and two for fireman earned satisfactory scores on Monday's examinations.

Also passing the civil service examination was one applicant for the position of operator in the city sewage treatment plant.

Gary O'Hara and Robert Sadler were the successful applicants for the positions of police patrolmen. James Spelman and Ronald Sowers passed examinations for the fire department.

O'Hara is already a member of the police force. He is serving as a special officer.

HAWKES has referred the names of the successful applicants to Miller Fissell, safety director, and to Ervin Leist, public utilities head.

Fissell met with Fire Chief Bernard Wolf and Police Chief Robert Temple today to begin a screening process on the applicants.

The safety director noted that no appointment will be made until the applicants' backgrounds have been thoroughly investigated.

Although there were several applicants for the position of fire department lieutenant and police sergeant, the names of the successful examinees have not been released to Fissell because there is currently no opening for the positions in either department.

Leist is out of the city and no action will be taken on the applicant for an operator position at the sewage plant until he returns.

Three Are Treated For Various Injuries

Three emergency patients were treated and released Wednesday at Berger Hospital for various injuries.

Howard Johnson, 53, of 165 W. Main St., broke his right leg when he fell at home. He was transferred to the VA Hospital, in Dayton.

Thomas Shisler, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Shisler, 364 E. Mound St., injured his neck at school.

Stacy Shaffer, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Shaffer, 455 Watt St., was bitten by a dog.

Two Drivers Listed On Court Docket

Two motorists were listed on Circleville Municipal Court's docket today. They were:

Lloyd Chilcote, 24, of 126 Nicholas Drive, $10 and costs for failure to heed a red light.

Phillip Conrad Reese, 24, Ashville; $10 and costs for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Training Program Aimed At Apprentice Mechanics

Wes Edstrom Motors, 150 E. Main St., will enroll apprentices in an automotive technicians training program co-sponsored by Chrysler Motors Corp. and the U. S. Department of Labor.

Edstrom noted today the program will be held at Central High School in Columbus and will be aimed at new employees. Apprentices will be trained as general repair mechanics and body repair specialists.

Applicants may apply at the local State Employment Office. Trainees must be at least 18 years of age and pass a series of tests to determine whether they have an aptitude for auto mechanics.

Chrysler's nationwide job development program is the first to be cooperatively undertaken between a major automotive manufacturer and the U. S. government. The program has nearly 900 trainees already receiving instructions in 30 cities across the country.

Virgil E. Boyd, group vice president, Domestic and Automotive, Chrysler Corporation, in explaining the need for the program, said, "The Automotive industry is now producing and selling automobiles at a rate that requires additional thousands of service personnel. At least 20,000 new recruits are needed each year just to replace the men who will leave the trade by retirement or promotion. The Technicians Training Program will help supply this need."

Under the three-year program, the trainees will work a regular 40-hour week, with a starting wage of 55 per cent of the journeyman mechanic rate; regular wage increases will be granted every six months as the trainee becomes more skilled. Two nights a week, the apprentices will receive formal instruction in auto maintenance and repair from instructors at local vocational training centers.

After the three-year apprentice program, the trainees will be given the opportunity to join the dealership as fully-trained mechanics.

Once the contract is fully in effect, Chrysler Motors Corp. and its dealerships will provide 80 per cent of the operating funds needed while the U. S. Government's cost will be 20 per cent. These funds will cover administration expense, equipment donations and partial reimbursement to dealers for time spent in training the apprentices.

The program operates under the terms of the Manpower Development and Training Act which contains provisions enabling private industry and the Federal Government to work together to provide job training in a normal working environment.

Child Welfare Lists Services For Month

Seven children entered custody of the Pickaway County Child Welfare Board and eight cases were terminated during March, Mrs. Margaret K. Barnes, executive secretary, told Child Welfare Board members at their regular monthly session this week.

Mrs. Barnes' report, which described services as of Mar. 31, included the following statistics about children in custody of the agency: 46 children in foster homes; 27 in the Children's Home; 46 in supervised placement with their own parents; 23 placed with other relatives; three in free homes; two in the Xenia Soldier's and Sailor's Home; and two in the armed services.

The local Child Welfare agency also handles State Crippled Children's Services and accepted one new case during March. Federal funds for this department amounted to $515.16, while Pickaway County contributed $261.74 for care of crippled children in the county.

Federal and local funds totaling $2,193.25 were used to maintain children in 24 foster homes. Children's funds (from social security, insurance, veteran's pensions and parents' contributions) of $1,419.78 went to 14 other homes for board, medical, and clothing expense of 41 foster children.

Expenses of Child Welfare services, apart from the Children's Home budget, totalled $5,273.72.

Brooks-Yates School, training 24 retarded children, submitted vouchers for $1,879.40. The school's purchase of an electric chord organ was approved.

Winfield Koch, superintendent of the Children's Home, submitted a budget of $2,704.02 for March. Koch reported that the children went to church every Sunday during April and that VFW in Whitehall. Playground equipment was purchased with money earned by the children as part of their "Eager Beaver Club" project.

Koch presented a letter requesting increases in salaries for staff members, of the Children's Home. The request will be considered at the June 5, meeting of the board. Children's Home staff re-organization and structure will also be on the agenda for the June meeting.

Two Logan Elm Students Conservation Fair Winners

Two Logan Elm students who collaborated on a bee project in the first annual countywide conservation science fair won the top award.

Ricky Lear and Dallas Riddle are now eligible to compete in the 14-county District Conservation Science Fair scheduled May 19 at Westfall High School.

Placing second in the county competition was Carolyn Roundhouse of Circleville whose entry was entitled "Soil-Water." John Cook of Westfall was third with a display of the life of insects.

Cook's entry won a superior rating in State Science Fair competition.

JUDGING the entries were Chaney Vance, a member of the Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation District and Jim Steiner, soil conservationist from Waverly.

George McDowell superintendent of county schools, presented certificates to all students participating and plaques to the top three winners. Other students entered in the competition were Melanie Dresback of Logan Elm, Don Greenwood and Nicholas Cain of Westfall.

The competition is sponsored by the various soil and water conservation districts. Following the district event, a state wide fair is planned, it was reported by Don Archer, local soil conservationist.

Current plans call for a scholarship to be awarded to the state winner.

Counties involved in the district are Pickaway, Marion, Morrow, Union, Delaware, Madison, Franklin, Fayette, Ross, Highland, Pike, Scioto, Adams and Brown.

Civil Service Exams Graded

Five Applicants Earn Satisfactory Scores

Vernon Hawkes, secretary of the Circleville Municipal Civil Service Commission, announced two applicants for patrolman and two for fireman earned satisfactory scores on Monday's examinations.

Also passing the civil service examination was one applicant for the position of operator in the city sewage treatment plant.

Gary O'Hara and Robert Sadler were the successful applicants for the positions of police patrolmen. James Spelman and Ronald Sowers passed examinations for the fire department.

O'Hara is already a member of the police force. He is serving as a special officer.

HAWKES has referred the names of the successful applicants to Miller Fissell, safety director, and to Ervin Leist, public utilities head.

Fissell met with Fire Chief Bernard Wolf and Police Chief Robert Temple today to begin a screening process on the applicants.

The safety director noted that no appointment will be made until the applicants' backgrounds have been thoroughly investigated.

Although there were several applicants for the position of fire department lieutenant and police sergeant, the names of the successful examinees have not been released to Fissell because there is currently no opening for the positions in either department.

Leist is out of the city and no action will be taken on the applicant for an operator position at the sewage plant until he returns.

Three Are Treated For Various Injuries

Three emergency patients were treated and released Wednesday at Berger Hospital for various injuries.

Howard Johnson, 53, of 165 W. Main St., broke his right leg when he fell at home. He was transferred to the VA Hospital, in Dayton.

Thomas Shisler, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Shisler, 364 E. Mound St., injured his neck at school.

Stacy Shaffer, 3, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Shaffer, 453 Watt St., was bitten by a dog.

Two Drivers Listed On Court Docket

Two motorists were listed on Circleville Municipal Court's docket today. They were:

Lloyd Licoate, 24, of 126 Nichols Drive, $10 and costs for failure to heed a red light.

Phillip Conrad Reese, 24, Ashville; $10 and costs for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

'Miracle Worker' Staging Presented by CHS Seniors

At 8 p. m. Friday and Saturday the curtain will raise in the Circleville High School auditorium on one of the most difficult plays ever attempted by the local high school.

The two performances are being staged by the CHS senior class and is the culmination of weeks of rigorous, nerve-shattering rehearsals. The play is "The Miracle Worker."

Well-known theater buffs for its dramatic offering, "The Miracle Worker" is based on the early life of Helen Keller, born blind and deaf. The Broadway version was later made into a movie with the original star, Patty Duke, as Helen.

In the CHS version, Sherry Garner will be seen as the blind, deaf mute. Linda Bowers has the role of Annie Sullivan, Helen's teacher and governess.

OTHER members of the cast include Christine Zehner as Kate Keller; Jim Archer as Captain Keller; Randy Nelson as James Keller; Leann Gross as Aunt Ev; Roger Grigg as Anagnos; Arnold Martin as the doctor; Dan Teal, Zuella Coleman as the children; Cynthia Brackett, Sonnie Stone and Cheryl Burton as the blind girls; and Jill Robertson as Vincent.

The play itself has humorous scenes, scenes that touch the heart and others that are violent and sometimes nauseating.

Sherry Garner as Helen and Linda Bowers as Miss Sullivan, in particular, worked to the point of exhaustion at rehearsals, according to Ron Mead, director of the class play.

In the role of Helen, Miss Garner has no speaking part. But, what is expected of her physically during the two-hour staging is "guaranteed to exhaust the audience," Mead noted.

Miss Bowers, as Helen's teacher, is on the receiving end of many kicks and blows during tests of temperance in teaching Helen to live like a human being instead of an animal, the director stated. In fact, during one rehearsal Miss Bowers received a cut during a staged struggle between herself and her pupil.

Glenn Plum is technical director for the staging. A unique set was constructed for the limited stage and much of the action depends upon the technical lighting.

HANDLING backstage activity are Ellisa Evans as student coordinator and John Owens as stage manager.

Reserved tickets are on sale in the main hall of the high school everyday until 5 p. m. Tickets may also be purchased at the door on the night of performances.

Local Group Hears Talk by RCA Official

Unlimited possibilities in electronics was the program topic when approximately 60 local businessmen met for a breakfast session at 7 a. m. today at Pickaway Arms.

Predicting great strides in the electronics field was guest speaker Leo F. Holleran, a commercial relations executive with Radio Corporation of America. The Chicago based official was sponsored here by the Retail Merchants Committee of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce.

Holleran said great future strides are evident in most realms of business. He said both producers and consumers are expressing optimistic views despite inflationary tendencies.

The RCA executive, originally scheduled to comment on customer relations, touched briefly on the subject by describing new methods for acquiring appeal in merchandising.

He said each area or community has its own specific problems in the way of retailing and improving customer relations.

Two Logan Elm Students Conservation Fair Winners

Two Logan Elm students who collaborated on a bee project in the first annual countywide conservation science fair won the top award.

Ricky Lear and Dallas Riddle are now eligible to compete in the 14-county District Conservation Science Fair scheduled May 19 at Westfall High School.

Placing second in the county competition was Carolyn Roundhouse of Circleville whose entry was entitled "Soil-Water." John Cook of Westfall was third with a display of the life of insects.

Cook's entry won a superior rating in State Science Fair competition.

JUDGING the entries were Chaney Vance, a member of the Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation District and Jim Steiner, soil conservationist from Waverly.

George McDowell superintendent of county schools, presented certificates to all students participating and plaques to the top three winners.

Other students entered in the competition were Melanie Dresback of Logan Elm, Don Greenwood and Nicholas Cain of Westfall.

The competition is sponsored by the various soil and water conservation districts. Following the district event, a state wide fair is planned, it was reported by Don Archer, local soil conservationist.

Current plans call for a scholarship to be awarded to the state winner.

Counties involved in the district are Pickaway, Marion, Morrow, Union, Delaware, Madison, Franklin, Fayette, Ross, Highland, Pike, Scioto, Adams and Brown.

'Voluntary' Imprisonment Plan Is Urged

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A California psychiatrist suggests a national system of "voluntary imprisonment" as a possible means of improving the rehabilitation of criminal offenders.

It would work much like the present system employed in mental hospitals, whereby patients may seek "voluntary admission" as distinguished from involuntary commitment, said Dr. Norman I. Aron of the Neuropsychiatric Institute, University of California at Los Angeles.

He suggested it Wednesday in a report to the 122nd annual meeting of the American Psychiatric Association. He said this is how it might work:

"Let us assume, for example, that a man is apprehended who was caught red-handed in the performance of a criminal act and whose conviction is a foregone conclusion.

"Instead of forcing him through an adversary trial, he could plead guilty and request a rehabilitative imprisonment for a minimum period of time, arbitrarily six months.

"At the end of this time," Barr continued, "his case would be reviewed by a board of experts and, if he seemed rehabilitated, be referred back to the court for appropriate disposition — discharge, probation, or additional sentencing.

"If he was not considered rehabilitated, he would have recourse to volunteer for an additional six months, or to request leaving the voluntary program and asking for a specific sentence by the judge — the final decision would always rest with the judge."

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A law requiring photographs on Ohio driver licenses has been suggested by State Liquor Director Donald D. Cook.

He made the suggestion to a legislative study committee, in a letter to State Sen. Ed Garrigan, chairman of the Highway Safety Study Committee of the Legislative Service Commission. Garrigan has scheduled the first meeting of the committee for May 23 in the statehouse.

Cook said Ohio law requires a photograph of the holder on chauffeur licenses and California and Michigan require photos on all driver licenses. Pennsylvania is drawing up such a program, he added.

He maintained photos on licenses "would increase the certainty and efficiency in establishing and reporting identity of drivers concerned in traffic investigations . . . one of the primary and basic functional operations and responsibilities of any effective highway safety program."

Briton Visits Red China, Is Awed By Propaganda Used on Children

EDITOR'S NOTE — Dorothy Henry, 46, secretary of the 8,540-member Institution of British Engineers, led a party of 13 British businessmen and engineers on a 12-day visit to Communist China last month. They went at the invitation of the Chinese Society of Civil Engineers and were shown building and industrial development in Peking, Shanghai and other Chinese cities. In the following article, written for The Associated Press, she describes the visit, her first to China.

By DOROTHY HENRY
PEKING (AP) — In Communist China today four men do one man's job.

This is one of the things that struck me hard about the world's most populous nation. Everyone works in China. All the women have jobs.

Most families have a convenient grandmother who stays home to look after the small children. If there is no grandmother the children are put in a weekly children's nursery.

From outside, the factories look efficient and modern, but inside there seem to be four operators for every machine. You are struck by the fact that there are no multipurpose machines. There is no automation.

We saw a canal being built. There seemed to be 20,000 or 30,000 people moving earth in baskets.

The most alarming thing to me about China is the propaganda used on young children.

I was informed at one school that only 35 per cent of class time is devoted to what we know as educational subjects. The other 65 per cent is devoted to politics: The history of the "liberation," Marxism, and the works of Mao Tse-tung.

The propaganda thing starts from three years upward. In the children's ballets and plays the subject is the Viet Nam fighting and the villain is always Uncle Sam.

There are posters about Viet Nam everywhere. The Viet Nam war is providing a medium for hate, with the Americans as the hated "imperialist aggressors."

There is plenty of hate too for the Soviet "revisionists."

The Chinese are very bitter at the Soviets for withdrawing financial aid and technicians. The withdrawal has hit them hard.

At Wuan, southwest of Shanghai, I visited a steel plant. They were building a big extension to the plant, and I saw Soviet rolling mills waiting to be installed.

These obviously had been standing there for a considerable time.

PROBATE COURT NOTICE
All interested parties are hereby notified that the following Executors, Administrators and Trustees have filed their accounts in the Probate Court of Pickaway County, Ohio:

No. 21956 Mary S. Glitt, Executrix of the estate of Franklin M. Glitt, deceased. Final account.

No. 21806 Orville E. Glandon, Administrator of the estate of William C. Glandon, deceased. First, final and distributive account.

No. 21825 Fannie Whitson, Administratrix of the estate of John L. Baskirk, deceased. First and final account.

No. 21919 Richard W. Penn, Administrator with the will annexed of the estate of Bundy Hendrix, deceased. Final account.

No. 21875 Thomas E. McFadden, Executor of the estate of John L. McFadden, deceased. First, final and distributive account.

No. 22135 Robert R. Cross, Administrator of the estate of Ruby Ethel Cross, deceased. First and final account.

No. 15296 Mary Vieth Rooney, Trustee of the estate of Ella Stogd, deceased. Eighth account.

And that said accounts will be for hearing and settlement before this Probate Court on Monday, June 6, 1966, at 9 o'clock A. M. Exceptions to said accounts, if any, must be filed herein on or before May 31st, 1966.

Witness my hand and the seal of said Probate Court this 11th day of May 1966.

GUY G. CLINE
Probate Judge

May 5, 12, 19, 26.

Our visit began at Shanghai airport. We could see between one and two dozen brown-colored MIG fighters on the military part of the airport.

We visited a workers' settlement, which we would call a slum clearance scheme.

People are being moved from old dilapidated homes into modern blocks of flats. I visited several of these flats in Shanghai. They seem to be about the same size, consisting of two or three rooms, kitchen and lavatory. Sometimes a kitchen is shared with another family. The rooms are about 12 x 10 feet and rents are cheap.

By Western standards the flats would be suitable for a married couple or possibly a couple with one child. But in China the whole family — grandparents, married children and their children — live under one roof. So the average for each flat is about five or six people — overcrowded by our standards.

The average wage rate for a worker at, say a machine tool factory, is between $25 and $28 per month. The boss doesn't get much more. A chief engineer, for instance, might earn $61 per month. For an equivalent job in the West he would expect $1,000 a month.

There are very few cars on the streets in China. Party officials can be seen going to their offices in cars, quite often American ones. I always used to point these out to our interpreters and say with glee: "That's a Chevrolet. I thought you wouldn't have Americans here."

They laughed.

There are hardly any consumer goods in the shops. Clothes seem to be quite expensive. Those blue tunic jackets that everyone wears, for instance, cost about $8.40.

When the Chinese aren't walking they ride bicycles. But these are expensive too — $55 or more.

I asked if they had an installment buying system. They thought that very funny.

They had a Chinese-made whisky in the hotel at Shanghai, no one fancied it. But there is delicious lager-type beer and a strong vodka-type spirit called mao-tie.

The main street in Peking was the longest, straightest, widest street I've ever seen — and the emptiest. Hardly a car in sight. A few trucks. Some bicycles. And all that space.

Apart from some splendid new buildings the Chinese capital struck me as a drab place. All the houses were gray, some- how, and although the new blocks of flats are well designed, there is this grayness. No gay touches of paint. No window boxes.

As a woman I was a bit put off by all those blue tunics and trousers, worn by both men and women. The legs of the women in our party created quite a commotion. I'm told that some Chinese women wear skirts. But I never saw any.

One thing that struck me in Peking was the railway station. Very modern. It even had a spot where you could stand and make train inquiries over a closed television circuit. It had a good dining room and large, clean waiting rooms.

They seem to be about the same size, consisting of two or three rooms, kitchen and lavatory. Sometimes a kitchen is shared with another family. The rooms are about 12 x 10 feet and rents are cheap.

By Western standards the flats would be suitable for a married couple or possibly a couple with one child. But in China the whole family — grandparents, married children and their children — live under one roof. So the average for each flat is about five or six people — overcrowded by our standards.

The average wage rate for a worker at, say a machine tool factory, is between $25 and $28 per month. The boss doesn't get much more. A chief engineer, for instance, might earn $61 per month. For an equivalent job in the West he would expect $1,000 a month.

There are very few cars on the streets in China. Party officials can be seen going to their offices in cars, quite often American ones. I always used to point these out to our interpreters and say with glee: "That's a Chevrolet. I thought you wouldn't have Americans here." They laughed.

There are hardly any consumer goods in the shops. Clothes seem to be quite expensive. Those blue tunic jackets that everyone wears, for instance, cost about $8.40.

When the Chinese aren't walking they ride bicycles. But these are expensive too — $55 or more.

I asked if they had an installment buying system. They thought that very funny.

They had a Chinese-made whisky in the hotel at Shanghai, no one fancied it. But there is delicious lager-type beer and a strong vodka-type spirit called mao-tie.

The main street in Peking was the longest, straightest, widest street I've ever seen — and the emptiest. Hardly a car in sight. A few trucks. Some bicycles. And all that space.

Apart from some splendid new buildings the Chinese capital struck me as a drab place.

All the houses were gray, some how, and although the new blocks of flats are well designed, there is this grayness. No gay touches of paint. No window boxes.

As a woman I was a bit put off by all those blue tunics and trousers, worn by both men and women. The legs of the women in our party created quite a commotion. I'm told that some Chinese women wear skirts. But I never saw any.

One thing that struck me in Peking was the railway station. Very modern. It even had a spot where you could stand and make train inquiries over a closed television circuit. It had a good dining room and large, clean waiting rooms.

Where Visitors Are Spies

Now is the season of the year when the tourist, despite Secretary of the Treasury Fowler's warning about taking dollars abroad, is girding up to dare the far corners of the earth And the Soviet Intourist travel agency, which is as avidly hungry for dollars as any other national tourist organization, is busy extolling the cultural attractions of the U.S.S.R. Says a writer in the Soviet Izvestia, somewhat wistfully: "There is no more lucrative item in world trade at the moment than trade in impressions."

But to open up a trade in "impressions" some elementary deficiencies have to be observed. A Mexico, eyeing the tourist dollar, puts an ex-President of the country at the head of its tourist bureau and lets people come in merely by signing a travel card. Nobody compels them to take guides. But the Russians don't make Khrushchev their Intourist head. More over, when an obviously harmless Princeton, New Jersey, book salesman named Newcomb Mott wanders over the Soviet border without a visa up in the muskeg or tundra belt, where there is nothing of importance to be seen anyway, the "impression" meted out to the poor fellow is death. Mott is officially represented in the Soviet books as a suicide, but since he came to a violent end on a train that was taking him into a gloomy captivity for the "crime" of failing to obtain an ink spot on a piece of paper, the suicide, if any, was at least the result of a provocation.

Mott or no Mott, the Soviet Union hardly deserves any tourists. Boris P. Rogal, in an analysis of the Russian press made for the Institute for the Study of the U.S.S.R. in Munich comes up with some juicy items that should be enough to scare anyone away. Mr. Rogal quotes a series of articles by V. Khomenko in "Pravda Ukrainy" dealing with the work of Soviet customs officials at airports and seaports, particularly Odessa. Tourists, to V. Khomenko, are "overseas junk merchants" and "Predators of the capitalist world." "The frontier police and customs officials," writes Khomenko, "stand in the front line of the 'quiet war,' so to speak. Their weapon is vigilance. Thousands of watchful eyes. But vigilance is necessary too in the rear. This is axiomatic. Let us therefore learn from those who toil on the Soviet frontiers, let us tirelessly intensify our watchfulness."

This is just to make you, apart from your dollars, feel wanted. Any interest you might show in Soviet life would automatically be condemned as "tendentious." One American has been accused in the Russian press of showing an interest in "convict songs," and expressing a desire to learn something about "the attitudes of the artistic intelligentsia." Horrible! A West German who bought some Soviet publications and abstract paintings has been upbraided for "collecting" items of "poor ideological and artistic quality." Gerald Brooke the Englishman who was sentenced to prison for "hostile" acts, made the mistake of trying "the ascertain the age of priests, their attitude toward the Soviet regime and the content of their sermons." Sociologists, take warnings!

In short, the tourist in Russia is regarded strictly as a Typoid Mary, the source of probable contamination of pure Soviet life. At the time of the trial of the writers Andrei Sinyavsky and Yuli Daniel, the Russian press denounced the "tourist" Helene Peltier - Zamoyskaya for smuggling the works of the two authors abroad. It did not matter that Helene Peltier-Zamoyskaya's father was the French Naval Attaché in Moscow; she was a "tourist" merely because she had indulged in something that, ex post facto, has been judged by a Soviet court to be reprehensible.

For the privilege of being looked down upon as a potential common criminal, the Soviet Intourist agency will charge you from ten to thirty-five dollars a day for a single room and three ordinary meals. You get an "interpreter" whether you want one or not. The "interpreter" is there to keep you from getting "tendentious" information. Now, if some American student organization really wants to picket, why not throw up a line outside Soviet Intourist offices with signs reading: "Remember Newcomb Mott." After all, the poor fellow was just another tourist.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

CIRCULATE among old-time baseball reporters and you're bound to hear stories of spring training escapades of yesteryear when professional sport was not yet big business and TV cameras weren't constantly focused on athletes-turned-financiers. At one spring training camp in Florida, for instance, way back in 1915, a hot pitching prospect of the Dodgers (why was it always the Dodgers?) decided to do a little warming-up at about 3 a.m. and began pitching oranges through the windows of Daytona's fashionable hotel. His career as a Dodger ended when one of the oranges conked the sleeping manager, Wilbert Robinson, just behind the right ear.

At another Southern camp, a gentleman sitting calmly in the press box was tabbed as an impostor and forcibly ejected from the park by faithful gumshoes. Some time later it was discovered that the impostor was Alf Landon, candidate for the Presidency of the United States.

A retired banker heard someone prowling around the ground floor of his Florida beach house late one night, and caught him red-handed stashing loot into a burlap bag. "I'm not going to turn you over to the police," he assured the frightened culprit. "I just want you to come upstairs and meet my wife. For the past twenty years she has been hearing you downstairs!"

A trigger-tempered boss caught an employee reading his newspaper during working hours, and barked, "When you get to the Help Wanted ads, start making notes."

Where Visitors Are Spies

Now is the season of the year when the tourist, despite Secretary of the Treasury Fowler's warning about taking dollars abroad, is girding up to dare the far corners of the earth. And the Soviet Intourist travel agency, which is as avidly hungry for dollars as any other national tourist organization, is busy extolling the cultural attractions of the U.S.S.R. Says a writer in the Soviet Izvestia, somewhat wistfully: "There is no more lucrative item in world trade at the moment than trade in impressions."

"But, Dad, I'm expecting an important call from Linda across the street!"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

CIRCULATE among old-time baseball reporters and you're bound to hear stories of spring training escapades of yesteryear when professional sport was not yet big business and TV cameras weren't constantly focused on athletes-turned-financiers. At one spring training camp in Florida, for instance, way back in 1915, a hot pitching prospect of the Dodgers (why was it always the Dodgers?) decided to do a little warming-up at about 3 a.m. and began pitching oranges through the windows of Daytona's fashionable hotel. His career as a Dodger ended when one of the oranges conked the sleeping manager, Wilbert Robinson, just behind the right ear.

At another Southern camp, a gentleman sitting calmly in the press box was tabbed as an impostor and forcibly ejected from the park by faithful gumshoes. Some time later it was discovered that the impostor was Alf Landon, candidate for the Presidency of the United States.

A retired banker heard someone prowling around the ground floor of his Florida beach house late one night, and caught him red-handed stashing loot into a burlap bag. "I'm not going to turn you over to the police," he assured the frightened culprit. "I just want you to come upstairs and meet my wife. For the past twenty years she has been hearing you downstairs!"

A trigger-tempered boss caught an employee reading his newspaper during working hours, and barked, "When you get to the Help Wanted ads, start making notes."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

When is a fluoroscope used instead of X-rays for an examination of the chest or intestines?

T. D., Ohio
Dear Mr. D.: A fluoroscope is a form of X-ray equipment. A fluorescent screen is used to catch the shadows of the X-ray or Roentgen tube as they pass through the patient's body.

The difference between a fluoroscopic examination and an X-ray plate is that the latter is a permanent record of the examination.

The advantages of the fluoroscope is that continuous movement can be studied. It can be compared to a moving picture while an X-ray plate is a still picture.

The fluoroscope and the X-ray plate are often used in conjunction with each other during examination of the gall-bladder, kidneys, stomach and circulatory system.

My sister-in-law has diverticulosis of the esophagus. She can only eat finely chopped food and baby foods.

She gives in to her aches and pains. I don't know if I should be stern or sympathetic. Sometimes, I think she complains unnecessarily.

Mrs. V. J., New York
Dear Mrs. J.: The condition you describe is probably a diverticulum of the esophagus. Diverticulosis is a condition of tiny pouches in the walls of the large intestine.

A diverticulum is a pouch that catches and traps food as it makes its way from the mouth to the stomach.

A diverticulum may be very distressing. In fact, many of them can only be cured by surgery of the esophagus.

Weekly Food Review

NEW YORK (AP) — It looks as if the weatherman is in cahoots with the gremlins in the nation's food markets.

Federal officials predicted food prices would go down later this year, with a lot of ifs, including if the weather behaved.

This week, freezes caused severe damage to the fruit crops in the Great Lakes region — damage that is likely to show up in the form of higher prices in the stores, first in fresh fruit and then canned and frozen supplies.

In southwestern Michigan, Clifford Conrad, Berrien County agricultural agent, said the losses in that bumper fruit-producing county alone might run $5 to $10 million.

"Cherries are about shot," said Frank Klackie, Kent County, Mich., horticultural agent.

In Ohio, serious damage was reported to the peach, pear and apple crops.

Apples were damaged in New York's Hudson Valley, berries in southern Illinois, and sweet cherries, strawberries and grapes near Erie, Pa.

The freeze came after heavy rains cut the onion, potato and carrot crops in Texas. Those rains already are being felt in higher vegetable prices.

Temperatures in the 90s in eastern Washington and dry weather have added to the woes of pea growers after one of the worst freezes in history last month.

Housewives may face higher prices for frozen peas as a result.

Damage to the orange crop was not as bad as originally feared.

Lettuce, delayed by cool weather, is increasingly plentiful, and prices finally are headed lower.

The federal government pointed to the possibility of lower prices later this year for livestock, poultry, eggs, potatoes and vegetables.

Pork, which played a major role in soaring food prices last winter, has been up and down this week.

RETIRES WITH RELISH—Steve Andrews, 80, doles out a hot dog—and it's free—to Aimee Zupko, 6, on the occasion of his retirement after selling hot dogs and soda from the same Perth Amboy, N.J., corner for 45 years.

Chaplin Completes Film, Itches To Start Another

LONDON (AP) — Charlie Chaplin has finished shooting his first movie in a decade and says he hopes to start another before very long.

"You've got to keep the mental batterie charged," he said Wednesday night, "and there's nothing like activity for doing that. People are telling me I look much better than when I started this movie."

Chaplin, 77, was speaking at a small dinner celebrating the end of studio work on "A Countess from Hong Kong." He wrote and directed the film, which stars Sophia Loren and Marlon Brando.

"It's amazing what this picture has done for him," said Chaplin's wife, Oona. "He looks so much younger and yet he's been working harder than anyone — six and sometimes seven days a week."

Chaplin said he will go to his home in Switzerland for a few days, then come back to London to edit the picture and complete the musical score. He said he plans to spend some time with his family, "then I want to make another picture."

"And I've already told Charlie that I want to be in it," said Miss Loren.

A spokesman for Universal Pictures, which financed "A Countess from Hong Kong," said he had heard the story line of Chaplin's proposed movie "and we are very interested — it's a wonderful story." He gave no clues to its content.

Chaplin was reminded that

"Countess" took 30 years from the inception of the original idea to getting it on film.

"Well, I won't take so long next time," he replied. "After all, I haven't got time to waste now. If I spent another 30 years on this idea I'd be 107 before I got it finished."

Autopsy Is Planned For Girl Hit on Head

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—The Butler County Coroner is doing an autopsy on Debra Sue Laihart, 13, of Fairfield, who died 12 hours after being hit on the head with a softball.

Tye Laihart told authorities his daughter was watching some boys play ball at a local park Tuesday evening when she was hit by the ball.

Mrs. Dave Horn will be the hostess.

Bridal Shower Given for Miss Marion

A bridal shower was given for Miss Stephanie Marion, bride-elect of Mr. Paul Lee Jones, by Mrs. Jack Heeter at her home on Guilford Road.

The gift table was covered with a blue cloth and centered with a blue umbrella decorated with tiny pink and white nosegays.

Mrs. Heeter was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Stephen Heeter, Mrs. Ross Spalding and Mrs. Eugene Hanson.

A salad course was served to the following invited guests: Misses Valerie Hamilton, Michele Funk, Virginia Metier, Joan Valentine, Sharma Callahan and Mrs. Paul E. Jones. Mrs. Frank Marion, Mrs. Jim Davis, Mrs. J. D. Reichelderfer, Mrs. Pem Beeby, Mrs. Walter Heine, Mrs. Lloyd Wisenbarger, Mrs. Joseph Mullane, Mrs. Fred Brown, Mrs. Roscoe Warren, Mrs. Austin Greene, Mrs. Finley Jones, Mrs. Russell Valentine, Mrs. Kenneth Miller, Mrs. Ronald Rose, Mrs. Paul E. Smith, Mrs. Richard Funk, Mrs. Dwight Steele, Mrs. Milton Griest, Mrs. Forrest Easterday Jr. and Mrs. Paul R. Smith.

Circle 5 Meets

Circle 5 of the First Methodist Church met for a luncheon at the Wardell Party Home.

Mrs. Cox held a brief business meeting following the luncheon. She reminded members that old white sheets and shirts are needed by the sewing group at the church.

Circle 5 made their pledge of $350 for the year.

The June breakfast will take place 9-11 a. m. June 1, at the church.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Deborah Barr, Mrs. Roger Jury, Mrs. Barten Deming and Mrs. Jae Clarridge.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Nervy People Not Welcome Here

DEAR ABBY: I invited 22 people to my home for Easter Sunday dinner at noon. Every one but my husband's brother and his wife accepted. She said, "I'm sorry, I already promised my mother we'd go to her house for the noon meal, but we'll be hungry again at 7 p.m., so we'll come to your house for left-overs, okay, honey?" Not knowing what to say, I said, "Okay." Well, they came at 7 p.m. with three other couples, cleaned me out of all my left-overs and ran.

I was standing in the kitchen doing dishes until midnight. I was plenty burned up because I had plans for those left-overs. But I'll leave it up to you, Abby. How could I have gotten out of letting her come when she invited herself?

BURNED UP
DEAR BURNED: Just because people are nervy enough to invite themselves is no reason to make them welcome. You should have said, "I am sorry, but my dinner party is at NOON, and I'm afraid I will not be very good company at 7 p.m., so let's make it some other time, okay, honey?"

DEAR ABBY: I am a reasonably attractive, well-mannered bachelor in my late thirties and I receive many social invitations. I recently turned down an invitation to a dinner party and I frankly told the hostess that I was no longer accepting invitations that did not allow me to bring my own date. Very irately she told me that if I didn't want to go to parties alone I should get married.

Why do so many people think a single person should be eager to accept invitations to go to a party alone? I always feel like a fifth wheel, or else I get stuck with a dateless woman who shares my embarrassment. Am I wrong?

SINGLE SIMON
DEAR SIMON: If you'd rather bring your own date than gamble on what the hostess has paired you off with, say so. But most bachelors are invited to parties to provide escorts for the single women. And I'd like to see the dateless woman who would feel "embarrassed" to find her dinner companion a reasonably attractive, well-mannered bachelor.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were in our thirties and very much in love when we were married. Six years later I am a nervous wreck. He says I am the woman he has been looking for all his life and he isn't going to lose me. He has to know where I am every minute. He calls me six and seven times a day. If I go out during the day, he cross-examines me about where I went and who I saw. He is a local truck driver, so he is home every night and all day Sunday. He won't go to church (he is "afraid" of religion) and he won't let me go alone. When I became pregnant he got very jealous for fear I'd love the baby more than him, so he prayed that the baby would die, and it did. After that, I threatened to leave him, and he hit me. I am a prisoner in my own house, Abby. He says if I ever leave him he will kill me. Is there anything I can do? I can't sign my name.

A PRISONER
DEAR PRISONER: Your husband sounds like a very sick man. For your own safety, report his past actions and threats on your life to the local police. And for your sanity, ask the help of your doctor.

'Blackboard-by-Wire' Helps To Revolutionize Teaching

NEW YORK (AP)—A professor draws a circle on a tablet in his New York office. The circle appears simultaneously on television screens in classrooms around the country.

"The circumference equal the diameter times pi," drones the professor's television voice.

And on the screen appears the formula: "D times 3.1416 equals C."

The technique, dubbed "blackboard-by-wire," is one of many that is revolutionizing modern teaching. It can connect the poorest schoolhouse with brilliant scholars many miles distant.

Limits Raised For Buyers Of U.S. Bonds

Kenneth F. Fosnaugh, chairman of the U. S. Savings Bond volunteer committee for Pickaway County, today urged bond buyers to take advantage of the new higher annual limitations on holdings of E and H Bonds which have been announced by the Treasury Department.

The new regulations provide that eligible purchasers may own up to $20,000, maturity value, in Series E Bonds bought in any one calendar year, and $30,000, face value in H Bonds. Previous limits were $10,000 and $20,000 respectively.

Calling attention to the fact that the interest rate on Savings Bonds was recently increased to 4.15 per cent, Fosnaugh called the new purchase limit "an unusual opportunity" for both individual and institutional investors to become "larger shareholders in their country."

"U. S. Savings Bonds have always been considered an ideal investment for the ordinary saver," Fosnaugh said, "particularly because of their safety, guaranteed return and tax advantages. But I believe there is an important place for Savings Bonds in the larger investment portfolio, too, whether that of an individual or institution. I hope that the increased limits on holdings will encourage many such investors to put part of their funds into these securities of our country," he stated.

2 Area Students In State Contest

Two Pickaway County students were among 39 contestants entered in a scholarship contest sponsored by Ohio's Rural Electric Cooperatives.

Competing on a statewide level were Linda G. Stubbs, Route 1, Mt. Sterling, and Daryl R. Reichelderfer, Route 4. They were sponsored by the South Central Power Co.

Winners of the state contest were Joy Thompson of West Salem and Arnold W. Hogrefe of Bowling Green. Each was awarded a $2,300 scholarship.

Bliss Says GOP Progress Is 'Tremendous'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Republican National Chairman Ray C. Bliss says the GOP has "made tremendous progress" in uniting the party since the 1964 presidential election.

And with a solid Republican attack against major issues of public concern — inflation, Viet Nam and claims of waste in the War on Poverty — the GOP could recover many U.S. Senate and House seats in the next election, Bliss said.

"If this concern persist in November, people will just look to new leadership to find solutions," Bliss stated at a news conference here Wednesday.

He was in Columbus to participate as a member of the State Central Committee in the re-election of John S. Andrews of Toledo as Ohio GOP chairman, the job Bliss once held.

"I consider inflation at this point a major domestic issue... far beyond other domestic issues in recent years," he said.

Regarding Viet Nam, he stressed that "I'm not saying it is a particular issue" at this time although noting public concern over the conflict.

The GOP chairman described the general feeling among Republicans as supporting the President's Viet Nam policies. But he noted that Democrats are not solidified on Administration tactics.

"As of today," he said, "I believe we will pick up U.S. Senate seats, although we can't hope for control, and make rather substantial gains in House seats. It seems to me we should pick up some congressional seats in Ohio."

The Ohio congressional delegation has 14 Republicans and 10 Democrats.

Bliss said Gov. James A.

Combat Zone Catapult Launches Jet

CHU LAI, Viet Nam (AP) — A catapult system powered by twin jet engines hurled four U.S. Marine A4 Skyhawk jets aloft Wednesday in a test that could lead to high-speed jets using short, combat zone airstrips.

The four Skyhawks flew from Chu Lai's airstrip to a strike zone 50 miles southwest of Chu Lanai where they attacked a Viet Cong troop bunker.

Col. Leslie E. Brown, commander of the flight, said it was the first time that a catapult system for jets had been used in a combat zone.

In use, a cable from a winch is attached to the nose of the plane. The jet engines, mounted beside the runway on a steel and concrete foundation, power the winch. At the "go" sign, the plane is shot down the runway like a pellet from a slingshot. It reaches an air speed of 150 knots with 1,400 feet.

With the catapult, the jet can use a 2,000-foot runway, which is about half the distance normally considered necessary.

Marine engineers said that under ideal conditions an air strip about 4,000 feet long, complete with a catapult system and arresting gear for planes landing, could be built in a combat area within 72 hours.

Rhodes, running for re-election this year, is highly regarded nationally "for jobs he has done in Ohio."

But Bliss added that he "had done nothing toward 1968" in promoting Rhodes for the national office.

Expert Believes Computer To Predict Human Behavior

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Development appears feasible for electronic computers that would predict human behavior — including how people would vote in an election — a psychiatrist believes.

The trick could be done if enough brain power — and money — were put in to a "crash program" designed to perfect data-feeding and other techniques needed to activate such robots, declared Dr. Daniel Cappon of the University of Toronto.

Such an achievement could advance psychiatry by half a century, he said in a report to the 122nd annual meeting of the American Psychiatric Association.

Cappon said he is convinced the goal is feasible on the basis of his own use of a computer for the past five years as an aid in psychiatric research.

He said he has used it for such things as rapid calculation of experimental results and as a means of information storage and retrieval. And, most recently, in promising experiments aimed at translating entire psychiatric histories into a relatively simple "computer language."

"There is no reason why," he said, "once data incorporating the life experience and mental state of persons — such as patients and controls — is put into computer, this could not be subsequently tapped to answer questions about how people might behave under certain circumstances, for example under conditions of stress, of treatment, or in casting a vote.

"If enough information is stored — and if the computer yields sufficient criteria to be subsequently reprogrammed it should be possible to ask computers, on behalf of the population they represent, to make tunes and thus enhance the predictability of human behavior."

U.S. Losses
Enterprise came two miles closer to Haiphong, North Viet Nam's major port, to hit a Soviet-built missile site Wednesday. The site was 10 miles from the port city, and the spokesman said smoke billowed 2,000 feet into the air after the attack.

The closest previous attack to Haiphong was 12 miles. Three missiles were fired from the site before American bombs struck it. None of the planes was hit. But near the North Vietnamese town of Dong Hoian F105 Thunderchief was shot down by anti-aircraft fire, and its pilot was reported missing. It was the 236th U.S. plane lost in raids on North Viet Nam.

Ground action picked up sharply, and elements of two U.S. Marine divisions and of the 101st Airborne Brigade were thrown into battle.

About 90 miles northeast of Saigon, in a thick, tropical jungle, the paratroopers attacked an estimated 200 to 250 men. An American military spokesman said they were Viet Cong. Vietnamese sources said it was the crack 141st North Vietnamese regiment which had recently moved into the area.

American troops ploughing through the jungle poured fire on a small enemy unit Wednesday afternoon, and toward the end of the day enemy fire grew stronger, indicating a larger force. American artillery fired 1,500 shells into the jungle and advancing paratroopers found 14 dead insurgents and three weapons.

Monsoon rains pelted the jungle.

The Marines launched two new operations in the northern part of South Viet Nam, supported by massive artillery and air barrages.

Sixty helicopters airlifted a large Marine force 18 miles west of the coastal city of Quang Ngai as Marine pilot plastered the area before the landing. Supported by Vietnamese army units, the advancing Marines blew up an intricate Viet Cong tunnel network.

A spokesman said 47 guerrillas had been killed and 15 captured so far while American losses were light.

Near the old imperial capital of Hue, units of the 3rd Marine Division were in their third day of Operation Wayne and reported five Viet Cong killed. Again Marine casualties were reported light.

The U.S. Air Force said it killed "possibly 49 or more" Viet Cong in 350 combat strikes over South Viet Nam.

Business Briefs

Completion of a new 69KV transmission line between Delmont and Carroll, and a new 2500 KVA substation at Carroll, was announced today by South Central Power Company. Both facilities are now in operation.

Construction of the line from Delmont to Carroll—a distance of 10 miles—was started in November of 1965.

William Ridge, chief engineer for South Central, stated that the cost of the two projects amounted to $200,000. He pointed out that the two new facilities will provide additional capacity and service reliability in the area.

Similar system improvements, Ridge said, are being planned to provide additional capacity and service dependability in several parts of the South Central service area.

TB, Diabetic Tests Slated In Hocking

Dr. H. M. Boocks, Logan-Hocking County health commissioner, today announced the countywide Tuberculosis and Diabetic screening survey will be held May 17-21.

TB skin and diabetes tests will be given at Laurelville High School May 17, from noon until 3 p. m. and again from 4 p. m. until 7 p. m.

The tests are a free service provided through the cooperation of the Hocking County Medical Society, the Hocking County Tuberculosis and Health Assn., the Ohio Department of Health and the Logan-Hocking County Health Department.

"Treated properly, a person with diabetes feels well and lives just about the same as anyone else," Dr. Boocks commented.

But Dr. Boocks added, "To be under treatment, the diabetic must be found. This is sometimes difficult for the individual because the diabetic may feel well, or may not recognize his symptoms. Early discovery of diabetes is the first step toward effective treatment."

18-Year-Old Gets Life for 3 Slayings

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Paul Eric Krueger, who registered in a rooming house under the name Vic Solo a few hours after he shot three fishermen for no apparent reason, was sentenced to three concurrent life terms in prison Wednesday.

The California youth's surprise pleas of guilty and immediate sentencing closed a case which Dist. Atty. Sam Jones of Corpus Christi, called "the most heinous crime ever committed in the history of the Texas Gulf."

Krueger, the 18-year-old son of a San Clemente, Calif., industrialist, showed no emotion as sheriff's deputies hustled him from the courtroom. The defense waived all appeal and he will be sent quickly to the state prison at Huntsville.

He was indicted for the April 12, 1965, slayings of John D. Fox, 38; Noel D. Little, 51, and Van D. Carson, 40, all from Corpus Christi. They were shot while fishing off a pier 30 miles south of Corpus Christi.

Krueger took the witness stand briefly to state that he had changed his plea voluntarily and the affidavits were "true and correct."

One was given by John Philip Angles, 16, of Hollywood, Calif., who came from California to Texas with Krueger and was present at the slayings. He now is in the state reform school at Gatesville.

MASTER BRUNGS Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brungs, Route 1, Williamsport, are the parents of a 7-pound 3 1/2-ounce son born 9:20 a. m. Wednesday in Berger Hospital.

NIPPED IN THE BUDS — A killing freeze and record low temperatures have caused a 50 per cent loss in cherry crops in Door County, Wis. Local Grower Offers Advice On Cold Hit Trees, Shrubs

Local folks are showing much concern on possible damage to trees and shrubs due to this week's below - freezing temperatures.

In view of these apparent setbacks brought on by the seige of unseasonable weather, Robert L. Brebner Sr. of the local Brebner Greenhouses today offered some enlightening information on the subject. He is considered an authority in this field. Here are some of his observations:

Trees such as maples, whose leaves appear earlier and are more mature, suffered little damage from the freeze. On the other hand, some of those that normally leaf out later — such as oaks, sycamores and nut trees — have been defoliated. This is because leaves were just starting to form and were more tender.

It is possible that most native trees will recover. This may not be true if they were recently planted and roots were not well established.

TREES and shrubs of a semi-tropical nature not native to our climate, such as mimosa, holly and crepe myrtle, stand a chance of being killed by the cold.

New leaves will develop on native trees after the frost damaged leaves fall off. The new ones will be slow to develop and may even be delayed until the summer second growth.

Feeding damaged trees is recommended to hasten their recovery and to promote new leaf growth. The type of fertilizer to be used is important.

Caution should be followed concerning the use of regular farm fertilizers, considered not suitable for use in this connection.

Most farm fertilizers suitable for corn or other yearly farm crops are compounded of heavy concentrations of nitrogen, phosphate and potash. They are designed for use with fast growing succulent plants, to be consumed in a short season.

The sap in damaged trees and shrubs does not hurry like the human blood. Nor does it behave like the one short season, soft, succulent growth of corn, wheat and vegetables whose life span is weeks instead of years.

Grass consumes food year after year and fertilizer suitable for lawns would be adequate for trees and shrubs.

Postmaster Urges Conversion of Postal Savings to Bonds

Charles Walters, Circleville Postmaster, today urged local citizens who have funds on deposit in the abolished Postal Savings System to convert their holdings into United States Savings Bonds.

"Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien, who is chairman of the Federal Savings Bonds Campaign, has appealed to the 930,000 Americans who have $285,000,000 on deposit with the Post Office Department to convert their investments into United States Savings Bonds."

"I join him in urging local citizens who have Postal Savings Accounts to make that change which will be of great benefit to both themselves and our country. Savings Bonds offer every advantage of convenience and security formerly available through Postal Savings Certificates plus many other advantages unique to Savings Bonds," Walters said today.

Among those special advantages, the Circleville Postmaster said, are Savings Bonds' new and higher interest rate of 4.15 per cent and "the great intangible benefit of supporting our country in the fight for freedom in the world and for economic progress and security here at home."

The Postal Savings System, in operation since Jan. 1, 1911, was discontinued April 27, 1966, by an act of Congress. The Post Office Department presently is liquidating its accounts and on July 1, 1967 will transfer all unclaimed assets of the system to the Treasury Department.

The decision to abolish the Postal Savings System was made because of declining interest in it by the general public as a savings and investment medium. Higher interest rates paid by financial institutions and other means of investment had attracted the bulk of funds which formerly went into Postal Savings and the convenience factor was negated by expanded hours of service by banks.

The original purposes of the Postal Savings System were to (1) get money out of hiding, (2) attract the savings of immigrants who were accustomed to saving at post offices in their native countries, (3) provide safe depositories for people who had lost confidence in private banks and (4) provide more convenient depositories for savings of working people who were unable to bank during regular banking hours.

"Those purposes have long since been fulfilled," Postmaster Walters commented, "and, as Mr. O'Brien has emphasized, no greater new purpose could now be served by funds on deposit in the Postal Savings System than to put them to work for America in the form of United States Savings Bonds."

Park Eyed At Kingston

Keith Rowe, soil conservation service engineer, and Richard Rush, soil conservationist, have met with the Kingston Park board to discuss technical planning for the community park.

Rowe, stationed at Hillsboro, serves the south central counties assisting with the planning of recreational facilities, flood control projects and water supplies.

Mrs. Richard Immell told the soil conservation personnel the board is interested in an overall plan of the six acre park to provide a shelterhouse, ball field, basketball and tennis areas, a swimming pool and parking and landscaping.

Attending the meeting in addition to Rush, Rowe and Mrs. Immell were Mrs. Dwight Davis, Edward Bennett and William L. Kense.

U.S. Losses

Enterprise came two miles closer to Haiphong, North Viet Nam's major port, to hit a Soviet-built missile site Wednesday. The site was 10 miles from the port city, and the spokesman said smoke billowed 2,000 feet into the air after the attack.

The closest previous attack to Haiphong was 12 miles. Three missiles were fired from the site before American bombs struck it. None of the planes was hit. But near the North Vietnamese town of Dong Hoian F105 Thunderchief was shot down by anti-aircraft fire, and its pilot was reported missing. It was the 238th U.S. plane lost in raids on North Viet Nam.

Ground action picked up sharply, and elements of two U.S. Marine divisions and of the 101st Airborne Brigade were thrown into battle.

About 90 miles northeast of Saigon, in a thick, tropical jungle, the paratroopers attacked an estimated 200 to 250 men. An American military spokesman said they were Viet Cong. Vietnamese sources said it was the crack 141st North Vietnamese regiment which had recently moved into the area.

American troops ploughing through the jungle poured fire on a small enemy unit Wednesday afternoon, and toward the end of the day enemy fire grew stronger, indicating a larger force. American artillery fired 1,500 shells into the jungle and advancing paratroopers found 14 dead insurgents and three weapons.

Monsoon rains pelted the jungle.

The Marines launched two new operations in the northern part of South Viet Nam, supported by massive artillery and air barrages.

Sixty helicopters airlifted a large Marine force 18 miles west of the coastal city of Quang Ngai as Marine pilot plastered the area before the landing. Supported by Vietnamese army units, the advancing Marines blew up an intricate Viet Cong tunnel network.

A spokesman said 47 guerrillas had been killed and 15 captured so far while American losses were light.

Near the old imperial capital of Hue, units of the 3rd Marine Division were in their third day of Operation Wayne and reported five Viet Cong killed. Again Marine casualties were reported light.

The U.S. Air Force said it killed "possibly 40 or more" Viet Cong in 350 combat strikes over South Viet Nam.

Business Briefs

Completion of a new 69KV transmission line between Delmont and Carroll, and a new 2500 KVA substation at Carroll, was announced today by South Central Power Company. Both facilities are now in operation.

Construction of the line from Delmont to Carroll—a distance of 10 miles—was started in November of 1965.

William Ridge, chief engineer for South Central, stated that the cost of the two projects amounted to $200,000. He pointed out that the two new facilities will provide additional capacity and service reliability in the area.

Similar system improvements, Ridge said, are being planned to provide additional capacity and service dependability in several parts of the South Central service area.

TB, Diabetic Tests Slated In Hocking

Dr. H. M. Boocks, Logan-Hocking County health commissioner, today announced the countywide Tuberculosis and Diabetic screening survey will be held May 17-21.

TB skin and diabetes tests will be given at Laurelville High School May 17, from noon until 3 p. m. and again from 4 p. m. until 7 p. m.

The tests are a free service provided through the cooperation of the Hocking County Medical Society, the Hocking County Tuberculosis and Health Assn., the Ohio Department of Health and the Logan-Hocking County Health Department.

"Treated properly, a person with diabetes feels well and lives just about the same as anyone else," Dr. Boocks commented.

But Dr. Boocks added, "To be under treatment, the diabetic must be found. This is sometimes difficult for the individual because the diabetic may feel well, or may not recognize his symptoms. Early discovery of diabetes is the first step toward effective treatment."

18-Year-Old Gets Life for 3 Slayings

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Paul Eric Krueger, who registered in a rooming house under the name Vic Solo a few hours after he shot three fishermen for no apparent reason, was sentenced to three concurrent life terms in prison Wednesday.

The California youth's surprise pleas of guilty and immediate sentencing closed a case which Dist. Atty. Sam Jones of Corpus Christi, called "the most heinous crime ever committed in the history of the Texas Gulf."

Krueger, the 18-year-old son of a San Clemente, Calif., industrialist, showed no emotion as sheriff's deputies hustled him from the courtroom. The defense waived all appeal and he will be sent quickly to the state prison at Huntsville.

He was indicted for the April 12, 1965, slayings of John D. Fox, 38; Noel D. Little, 51, and Van D. Carson, 40, all from Corpus Christi. They were shot while fishing off a pier 30 miles south of Corpus Christi.

Krueger took the witness stand briefly to state that he had changed his plea voluntarily and the affidavits were "true and correct."

One was given by John Philip

Angles, 16, of Hollywood, Calif., who came from California to Texas with Krueger and was present at the slayings. He now is in the state reform school at Gatesville.

NIPPED IN THE BUDS — A killing freeze and record low temperatures have caused a 50 per cent loss in cherry crops in Door County, Wis. Here Dr. Clifford Ehlers (right), Wisconsin State experimental station expert, examines some of the damaged buds in the orchard of Jules Parmentier (left) of Sturgeon Bay, Wis.

Local Grower Offers Advice On Cold Hit Trees, Shrubs

Local folks are showing much concern on possible damage to trees and shrubs due to this week's below-freezing temperatures.

In view of these apparent setbacks brought on by the seige of unseasonable weather, Robert L. Brehmer Sr. of the local Brehmer Greenhouses today offered some enlightening information on the subject. He is considered an authority in this field. Here are some of his observations:

Trees such as maples, whose leaves appear earlier and are more mature, suffered little damage from the freeze. On the other hand, some of those that normally leaf out later — such as oaks, sycamores and nut trees — have been defoliated. This is because leaves were just starting to form and were more tender.

It is possible that most native trees will recover. This may not be true if they were recently planted and roots were not well established.

Trees and shrubs of a semi-tropical nature not native to our climate, such as mimosa, holly and crepe myrtle, stand a chance of being killed by the cold.

New leaves will develop on native trees after the frost damaged leaves fall off. The new ones will be slow to develop and may even be delayed until the summer second growth.

Feeding damaged trees is recommended to hasten their recovery and to promote new leaf growth. The type of fertilizer to be used is important.

Caution should be followed concerning the use of regular farm fertilizers, considered not suitable for use in this connection.

Most farm fertilizers suitable for corn or other yearly farm crops are compounded of heavy concentrations of nitrogen, phosphate and potash. They are designed for use with fast growing succulent plants, to be consumed in a short season.

The sap in damaged trees and shrubs does not hurry like the human blood. Nor does it behave like the one short season, soft, succulent growth of corn, wheat and vegetables whose life span is weeks instead of years.

Grass consumes food year after year and fertilizer suitable for lawns would be adequate for trees and shrubs.

Fertilizer absorbed by tree sap comes up slowly from the roots and is manufactured into food in the leaves (which are the tree's stomach). So the earlier fertilizer is applied the sooner leaves will be at work compounding food for continued growth.

For quicker absorption of fertilizer by trees and shrubs, particularly trees, it should be applied in holes 12 to 15 inches deep. The holes should be located in a circle at the drip of the outer branches and about a yard apart, with a second and third circle two or three feet inside of each other.

A half tin cup of fertilizer per hole is recommended, along with a pint of water in each. A cowbar or an earth auger can be used for the digging.

Evergreens, particularly yews, will lose their early new growth. But these needles will dry up and drop off without particular damage.

Postmaster Urges Conversion of Postal Savings to Bonds

Charles Walters, Circleville Postmaster, today urged local citizens who have funds on deposit in the abolished Postal Savings System to convert their holdings into United States Savings Bonds.

"Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien, who is chairman of the Federal Savings Bonds Campaign, has appealed to the 930,000 Americans who have $285,000,000 on deposit with the Post Office Department to convert their investments into United States Savings Bonds."

Park Eyed At Kingston

Keith Rowe, soil conservation service engineer, and Richard Rush, soil conservationist, have met with the Kingston Park board to discuss technical planning for the community park.

Rowe, stationed at Hillsboro, serves the south central counties assisting with the planning of recreational facilities, flood control projects and water supplies.

Mrs. Richard Immelt told the soil conservation personnel the board is interested in an overall plan of the six acre park to provide a shelterhouse, ball field, basketball and tennis areas, a swimming pool and parking and landscaping.

Attending the meeting in addition to Rush, Rowe and Mrs. Immelt were Mrs. Dwight Davis, Edward Bennett and William Lkens.

Rail Museum Readied

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP)—Officials of three railroads and the National Railway Historical Society will take part in the dedication Sunday of the railroad museum here.

"I join him in urging local citizens who have Postal Savings Accounts to make that change which will be of great benefit to both themselves and our country. Savings Bonds offer every advantage of convenience and security formerly available through Postal Savings Certificates plus many other advantages unique to Savings Bonds," Walters said today.

Among those special advantages, the Circleville Postmaster said, are Savings Bonds' new and higher interest rate of 4.15 per cent and "the great intangible benefit of supporting our country in the fight for freedom in the world and for economic progress and security here at home."

The Postal Savings System, in operation since Jan. 1, 1911, was discontinued April 27, 1966, by an act of Congress. The Post Office Department presently is liquidating its accounts and on July 1, 1967 will transfer all unclaimed assets of the system to the Treasury Department.

The decision to abolish the Postal Savings System was made because of declining interest in it by the general public as a savings and investment medium. Higher interest rates paid by financial institutions and other means of investment had attracted the bulk of funds which formerly went into Postal Savings and the convenience factor was negated by expanded hours of service by banks.

The original purposes of the Postal Savings System were to (1) get money out of hiding, (2) attract the savings of immigrants who were accustomed to saving at post offices in their native countries, (3) provide safe depositories for people who had lost confidence in private banks and (4) provide more convenient depositories for savings of working people who were unable to bank during regular banking hours.

"Those purposes have long since been fulfilled," Postmaster Walters commented, "and, as Mr. O'Brien has emphasized, no greater new purpose could now be served by funds on deposit in the Postal Savings System than to put them to work for America in the form of United States Savings Bonds."

Know-How, Work, Secret Of Splendid Hawkes Lawn

The garden page editor has long regarded the smartly groomed lawn of the Vernon L. Hawkes on N. Pickaway St. as a green velvet miracle. Pass it when you will, spring, summer or late autumn and there it is! Perfection!

But talk to Vernon L. Hawkes and he will tell you it's not a miracle at all. Instead you will find this velvety lawn is just the result of a great deal of plain old hard work.

According to this master lawnman who has lived at this location for 17 years, it is not the easiest thing in the world to get good turf on a steep slope. It's plain to see that Vernon Hawkes knows the ins and outs of lawn making.

He's relaxed about the difficult business of creating perfection. He doesn't seem to fight troubles. He seems to accept them as a challenge. And certainly he has the upper hand.

IF THIS green velvet miracle gives you pleasure as you pass, a visit to the V. L. Hawkes home is even more rewarding. Trees, shrubs and flowers (and there are plenty of them) seem only to accent the sweep of lawn.

Mrs. Hawkes has a rock garden, perhaps a yard and a half wide along the driveway. It is charming in the spring with creeping phlox, tulips, hyacinths, rock cress, grape hyacinths, dwarf iris and seedlings.

Her pasque flower (Anemone Pulsatilla) had more than 30 blossoms on it. This pretty lavender rock garden plant thrives on sunlight and good drainage which Mrs. Hawkes gives it.

The planting in front of the house is made up of yew, mahonia and vinca. All plants are groomed to perfection. The mahonia and myrtle were blooming with a delectable color combination of yellow and lavender.

The frontage of the Hawkes' yard is quite large. So there is a fine sweep to the lawn. They have used Chinese elm as a hedge to the south. This is closely clipped and provides a good screen.

Trees? Some beautiful specimens! Each tree and shrub is surrounded by a carefully cultivated circle which makes for easy mowing and adds to the effect of orderly grooming. Trees include a spruce which was once a Christmas tree, a weeping willow, a red maple, a shapely redbud and a wahoo.

IN BACK is the patio, now covered with a beamed ceiling of an attractive material that looks like opaque glass. From the patio the bird feeder can be easily seen and a very tame downy woodpecker put in his appearance. About 17 different kinds of birds visit Mrs. Hawkes' feeding station.

There is a small place for vegetables and rhubarb grows against the fence. This sort of rounds out the general horticultural endeavors of these excellent gardeners.

We asked Vern what kind of grass he planted. It is Kentucky bluegrass. And we asked if he had any special methods that would interest garden page readers. He does.

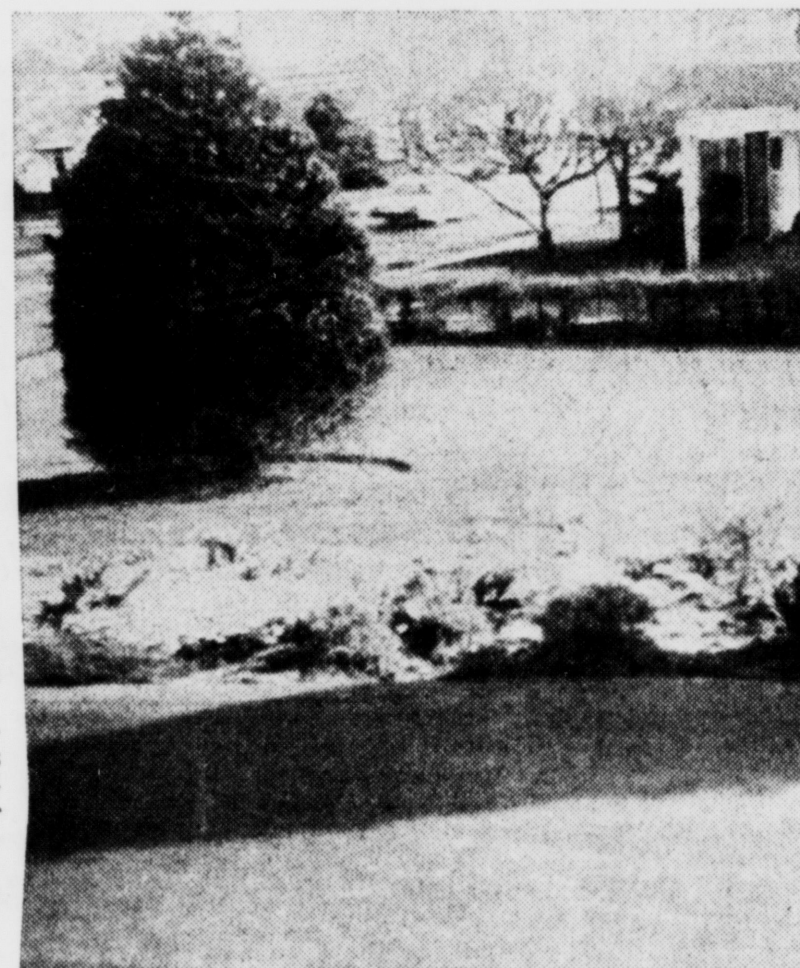

He fertilizes his lawn each spring. Early! And each fall. Early!

During May and June he sets his mower blades for a cutting height of two inches. He sets them for a height of two and one half inches in July and three inches during the dry season of August and September.

Hawkes believes it's very essential to have a sharp cutting blade for good mowing results. He also believes in a different mowing pattern each time. For instance he will mow up and down one week and across the next week and diagonally the next.

MASTER LAWSMAN — V. L. Hawkes, 569 N. Pickaway St., stands beside one of his lawnmowers. He maintains a well nigh perfect lawn. A sharp cutting blade is essential, he says, to easy mowing. The well groomed Hawkes' yard provides a feel of tranquility and order for chance visitors. For the owners themselves, everything's under good control so that maintenance is not a hard fight but a creative pleasure. Anybody jealous? Well the garden editor is for one!

LAWN AND ROCK GARDEN — V. L. Hawkes takes care of the lawn but the rock garden along the blacktop driveway is Mrs. Hawkes' province. It is especially colorful in early spring. But there is something blooming all year long here.

FOR THE last two years, sometime during the fall he has treated his lawn with a slicer. This loosens the ground and permits removal of thatch (grass clippings).

What about weeds? Sure he has them. It's chickweed right now. Diseases? He's bothered with sod worms when the hot weather starts and he waters the lawn. He fixes them with Chlordane.

He has two lawn mowers, one of them a riding unit.

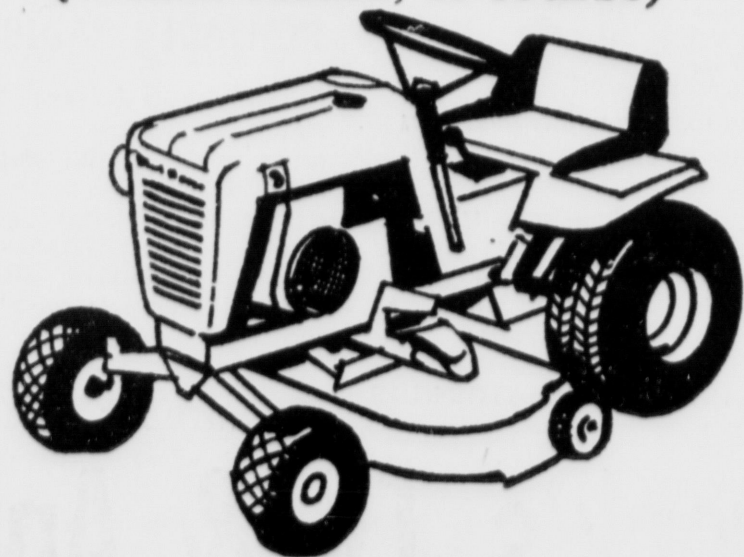

A fine lawn has become a status symbol in these United States of recent years. If this is true, and it is, Vernon Hawkes is really one of the big wheels in Circleville.

Garden Gossip

One of the most heart warming gestures I know of was when Mrs. Clyde Hoover arrived at the Pickaway County Garden Club flower show with a huge box of garden heliotrope plants to give to anybody who happened to want some.

Mrs. Hoover, not a member of this garden club, lives on Route 23, where the road to Ashville angles off. She maintains as fine a collection of perennial plants as may be found in the vicinity. She grew many of these from seed.

Somehow I was very touched by this gesture. Garden club people can get so involved with worthwhile civic projects that they fail to remember how much fun swapping can be.

Speaking of garden clubs, Mrs. Charles Thompson, who formerly lived here, said one time she thought it would be great fun if the garden club which sponsored the flower show would not exhibit, just work! Then this club would exhibit when another organization sponsored a show.

I did not think this could ever be worked out in a practical way. But the Monrovia Garden Club has opened its show of May 18 to the general public. It's to be oral judging, too. And this is great fun and very educational actually. If all clubs did this Alice Thompson's idea could become a reality.

Denny Lutz and his dad were out looking for mushrooms in our woods one rainy Sunday. Denny said he missed his brother, Jeff, sadly. Jeff is attending school in Nashville, Tenn. Denny says Jeff was the best mushroom and fishing partner a fellow ever had.

Doyle Cupp, S. Pickaway St., did not lose that first rose over the winter. He has decided not to cover his plants during the winter and he feels this hardening effect is what they need. He has not lost any since he quit pampering his plants with cover.

We have been told that Christian Schwarz, Watt St., shares this idea. The Schwarz roses are of real excellence.

Somebody told me something cute about Sultanias... namely that they are a plant that blooms 13 months a year.

Mrs. Howard Junk of near Washington C. H. said that many Frankfort Garden Club members kept daffodils over in their refrigerators for the show. But the member who had the best luck took hers to the local apple house. The show was April 30.

Between refrigerators and apple houses, the Frankfort Club managed to have outstanding daffodils both in arrangements, specimen classes and as an educational exhibit.

I heard Mrs. James Jackson of Ewington say that a garden club that did not have a show each year was dead on its feet. I thought with pride of the shows that my own garden club sponsored down through the years. But by the time I got my eighth entries in place I decided it was better to have a dead garden club than to be a dead member of a living garden club.

I happen to know that my husband would make a liberal contribution to any group or organization that would declare the garden editor a professional and bar her from entering amateur shows.

He came home the night before the flower show and we announced that we had punched a hole in the refrigerator gas line getting some hamburger out of the deep freeze unit. He wanted to know where I had taken the

Mrs. Blue Wins Daffodil Awards

Mrs. Reginald Blue, Chillicothe, attended and served as one of the judges at a daffodil show April 30 in Cleveland.

It was the first show ever sponsored by the Western Reserve Daffodil Society of that region. The event was held at the new Cleveland Garden Center.

According to Mrs. Blue, there were 486 daffodils on display and 272 individual entries. There were 173 varieties encompassing all 11 divisions of the genus.

Mrs. Blue, a long time member of the American Daffodil Society, took numerous specimens to the show and arrived home with nine ribbons.

Mrs. Blue has 100 varieties in her town garden and more than 250 varieties growing on the farm near Frankfort where she formerly lived. She says there are about 1200 registered varieties of this much loved flower.

Fortner Plant Can Grow Tall

Mrs. John Fortner of Laurelville has an interesting house plant which has grown to an amazing height. It has reached the ceiling.

She has been told it is a Schefflera. This is an evergreen tree belonging to the Aralia family and is used now as a houseplant. It is rather rare.

Schefflera is a native plant of Australia. It grows to 30 feet there.

These plants need plenty of sunshine and must be watered only moderately. When they grow leggy and tall they may be air layered and the resulting plant will be more attractive.

rest of the frozen food. And I said, "Where do you think? I am busy making flower arrangements for the show!"

Incidentally, punctured gas lines in refrigerators cannot be mended we were told by several repair men. So never, never pry around the deep freeze with a pointed knife.

'Spring Fantasy' Is Theme For Monrovia Club Show

"Spring Fantasy" is the theme of the open flower show to be sponsored by the Monrovia Garden Club May 18.

The show will be held in the Five Points Methodist Church and judging will be oral. Luncheon reservations may be made with Mrs. Charles Fleming, Route 1, Mt. Sterling.

There are three divisions, one for artistic arrangements with nine classes; one for flowering branches with two classes and the last for specimens with eight classes.

Here is the complete schedule:

ARTISTIC ARRANGEMENTS

1. "A Tisket, A Tasket": an arrangement in a small basket.
2. "April Showers Bring May Flowers": an arrangement with water as part of the design.
3. "Green Grows the Lilacs": an arrangement stressing green. One other color may be used for accent.

4. "The Moon Men": an arrangement suggesting space travel. Should have a small card explaining your interpretation.

5. "Can It Be Possible?": An arrangement incorporating one or more growing plants.

6. "The Seven Dwarfs": an arrangement using seven different varieties of plant material.

7. "Nature's Trails": an arrangement using material not normally grown in your garden. Base and container must be or have been plant material.

8. "Fair Dance": a small arangement not to exceed 8 inches in height or width.

9. "Fantastic": no rules apply here. A card explaining interpretations must accompany this arrangement to qualify for judging.

FLOWERING BRANCHES

1. Flowering shrub: one branch, not more than 30 inches high.

2. Flowering tree: One branch, not less than 30 inches high.

SPECIMENS

1. Tulip: single, one bloom, any color; 2. Tulip: double, one bloom, any color; 3. Tulip: parrot, one bloom, any color; 4. Narcissus: trumpet, one bloom, any color; 5. Narcissus: small cup, one bloom, any color; 6. Narcissus: one stem with multiple bloom, any color; 7. Peony: one bloom, single, any color; 8. Peony: one bloom, double, any color.

Entries must be made between 9:30 and 11 a. m. and only one will be accepted in each class from any one exhibitor. Specimen containers must be furnished by the exhibitor.

The club will not be responsible for loss or breakage. However care will be taken to prevent such loss. Accessories and bases will be considered part of arrangements.

All entries will be judged by an accredited judge and all classes will be judged first, second, third and honorable mention, with ribbons and cash awards.

Know-How, Work, Secret Of Splendid Hawkes Lawn

The garden page editor has long regarded the smartly groomed lawn of the Vernon L. Hawkes on N. Pickaway St. as a green velvet miracle. Pass it when you will, spring, summer or late autumn and there it is! Perfection!

But talk to Vernon L. Hawkes and he will tell you it's not a miracle at all. Instead you will find this velvet lawn is just the result of a great deal of plain old hard work.

According to this master lawnman who has lived at this location for 17 years, it is not the easiest thing in the world to get good turf on a steep slope. It's plain to see that Vernon Hawkes knows the ins and outs of lawn making.

He's relaxed about the difficult business of creating perfection. He doesn't seem to fight troubles. He seems to accept them as a challenge. And certainly he has the upper hand.

IF THIS green velvet miracle gives you pleasure as you pass, a visit to the V. L. Hawkes home is even more rewarding. Trees, shrubs and flowers (and there are plenty of them) seem only to accent the sweep of lawn.

Mrs. Hawkes has a rock garden, perhaps a yard and a half wide along the driveway. It is charming in the spring with creeping phlox, tulips, hyacinths, rock cress, grape hyacinths, dwarf iris and seedlings.

Her pasque flower (Anemone Pulsatilla) had more than 30 blossoms on it. This pretty lavender rock garden plant thrives on sunlight and good drainage which Mrs. Hawkes gives it.

The planting in front of the house is made up of yew, mahonia and vinca. All plants are groomed to perfection. The mahonia and myrtle were blooming with a delectable color combination of yellow and lavender.

The frontage of the Hawkes' yard is quite large. So there is a fine sweep to the lawn. They have used Chinese elm as a hedge to the south. This is closely clipped and provides a good screen.

Trees? Some beautiful specimens! Each tree and shrub is surrounded by a carefully cultivated circle which makes for easy mowing and adds to the effect of orderly grooming. Trees include a spruce which was once a Christmas tree, a weeping willow, a red maple, a shapely redbud and a wahoo.

IN BACK is the patio, now covered with a beamed ceiling of an attractive material that looks like opaque glass. From the patio the bird feeder can be easily seen and a very tame downy woodpecker put in his appearance. About 17 different kinds of birds visit Mrs. Hawkes' feeding station.

There is a small place for vegetables and rhubarb grows against the fence. This sort of rounds out the general horticultural endeavors of these excellent gardeners.

We asked Vern what kind of grass he planted. It is Kentucky bluegrass. And we asked if he had any special methods that would interest garden page readers. He does.

He fertilizes his lawn each spring. Early! And each fall. Early!

During May and June he sets his mower blades for a cutting height of two inches. He sets them for a height of two and one half inches in July and three inches during the dry season of August and September.

Hawkes believes it's very essential to have a sharp cutting blade for good mowing results. He also believes in a different mowing pattern each time. For instance he will mow up and down one week and across the next week and diagonally the next.

MASTER LAWSMAN — V. L. Hawkes, 569 N. Pickaway St., stands beside one of his lawnmowers. He maintains a well nigh perfect lawn. A sharp cutting blade is essential, he says, to easy mowing. The well groomed Hawkes' yard provides a feel of tranquility and order for chance visitors. For the owners themselves, everything's under good control so that maintenance is not a hard fight but a creative pleasure. Anybody jealous? Well the garden editor is for one!

LAWN AND ROCK GARDEN — V. L. Hawkes takes care of the lawn but the rock garden along the blacktop driveway is Mrs. Hawkes' province. It is especially colorful in early spring. But there is something blooming all year long here.

FOR THE last two years, sometime during the fall he has treated his lawn with a slicer. This loosens the ground and permits removal of thatch (grass clippings).

What about weeds? Sure he has them. It's chickweed right now. Diseases? He's bothered with sod worms when the hot weather starts and he waters the lawn. He fixes them with Chlorthane.

He has two lawn mowers, one of them a riding unit.

A fine lawn has become a status symbol in these United States of recent years. If this is true, and it is, Vernon Hawkes is really one of the big wheels in Circleville.

Garden Gossip

One of the most heart warming gestures I know of was when Mrs. Clyde Hoover arrived at the Pickaway County Garden Club flower show with a huge box of garden heliotrope plants to give to anybody who happened to want some.

Mrs. Hoover, not a member of this garden club, lives on Route 23, where the road to Ashville angles off. She maintains as fine a collection of perennial plants as may be found in the vicinity. She grew many of these from seed.

Somehow I was very touched by this gesture. Garden club people can get so involved with worthwhile civic projects that they fail to remember how much fun swapping can be.

Speaking of garden clubs, Mrs. Charles Thompson, who formerly lived here, said one time she thought it would be great fun if the garden club which sponsored the flower show would not exhibit, just work! Then this club would exhibit when another organization sponsored a show.

I did not think this could ever be worked out in a practical way. But the Monrovia Garden Club has opened its show of May 18 to the general public. It's to be oral judging, too. And this is great fun and very educational actually. If all clubs did this Alice Thompson's idea could become a reality.

Denny Lutz and his dad were out looking for mushrooms in our woods one rainy Sunday. Denny said he missed his brother, Jeff, sadly. Jeff is attending school in Nashville, Tenn. Denny says Jeff was the best mushroom and fishing partner a fellow ever had.

Doyle Cupp, S. Pickaway St., did not lose that first rose over the winter. He has decided not to cover his plants during the winter and he feels this hardening effect is what they need. He has not lost any since he quit pampering his plants with cover.

We have been told that Christian Schwarz, Watt St., shares this idea. The Schwarz roses are of real excellence.

Somebody told me something cute about Sultanias... namely that they are a plant that blooms 13 months a year.

Mrs. Howard Junk of near Washington C. H. said that many Frankfort Garden Club members kept daffodils over in their refrigerators for the show. But the member who had the best luck took hers to the local apple house. The show was April 30.

Between refrigerators and apple houses, the Frankfort Club managed to have outstanding daffodils both in arrangements, specimen classes and as an educational exhibit.

I heard Mrs. James Jackson of Ewington say that a garden club that did not have a show each year was dead on its feet. I thought with pride of the shows that my own garden club sponsored down through the years. But by the time I got my eight entries in place I decided it was better to have a dead garden club than to be a dead member of a living garden club.

I happen to know that my husband would make a liberal contribution to any group or organization that would declare the garden editor a professional and bar her from entering amateur shows.

He came home the night before the flower show and we announced that we had punched a hole in the refrigerator gas line getting some hamburger out of the deep freeze unit. He wanted to know where I had taken the

Mrs. Blue Wins Daffodil Awards

Mrs. Reginald Blue, Chillicothe, attended and served as one of the judges at a daffodil show April 30 in Cleveland.

It was the first show ever sponsored by the Western Reserve Daffodil Society of that region. The event was held at the new Cleveland Garden Center.

According to Mrs. Blue, there were 486 daffodils on display and 272 individual entries. There were 173 varieties encompassing all 11 divisions of the genus.

Mrs. Blue, a long time member of the American Daffodil Society, took numerous specimens to the show and arrived home with nine ribbons.

Mrs. Blue has 100 varieties in her town garden and more than 250 varieties growing on the farm near Fankfort where she formerly lived. She says there are about 1200 registered varieties of this much loved flower.

Fortner Plant Can Grow Tall

Mrs. John Fortner of Laurelville has an interesting house plant which has grown to an amazing height. It has reached the ceiling.

She has been told it is a Schefflera. This is an evergreen tree belonging to the Aralia family and is used now as a houseplant. It is rather rare.

Schefflera is a native plant of Australia. It grows to 30 feet there.

These plants need plenty of sunshine and must be watered only moderately. When they grow leggy and tall they may be air layered and the resulting plant will be more attractive.

rest of the frozen food. And I said, "Where do you think? I am busy making flower arrangements for the show!"

Incidentally, punctured gas lines in refrigerators cannot be mended we were told by several repair men. So never, never pry around the deep freeze with a pointed knife.

'Spring Fantasy' Is Theme For Monrovia Club Show

"Spring Fantasy" is the theme of the open flower show to be sponsored by the Monrovia Garden Club May 18.

The show will be held in the Five Points Methodist Church and judging will be oral. Luncheon reservations may be made with Mrs. Charles Fleming, Route 1, Mt. Sterling.

There are three divisions, one for artistic arrangements with nine classes; one for flowering branches with two classes and the last for specimens with eight classes.

Here is the complete schedule:

ARTISTIC ARRANGEMENTS

1. "A Tisket, A Tasket": an arrangement in a small basket.

2. "April Showers Bring May Flowers": an arrangement with water as part of the design.

3. "Green Grows the Lilacs": an arrangement stressing green. One other color may be used for accent.

4. "The Moon Men": an arrangement suggesting space travel. Should have a small card explaining your interpretation.

5. "Can It Be Possible?": An arrangement incorporating one or more growing plants.

6. "The Seven Dwarfs": an arrangement using seven different varieties of plant material.

7. "Nature's Trails": an arrangement using material not normally grown in your garden. Base and container must be of or have been plant material.

8. "Fair Dance": a small arrange ment not to exceed 8 inches in height or width.

9. "Fantastic": no rules apply here. A card explaining interpretations must accompany this arrangement to qualify for judging.

FLOWERING BRANCHES

1. Flowering shrub: one branch, not more than 30 inches high.

2. Flowering tree: One branch, not less than 30 inches high.

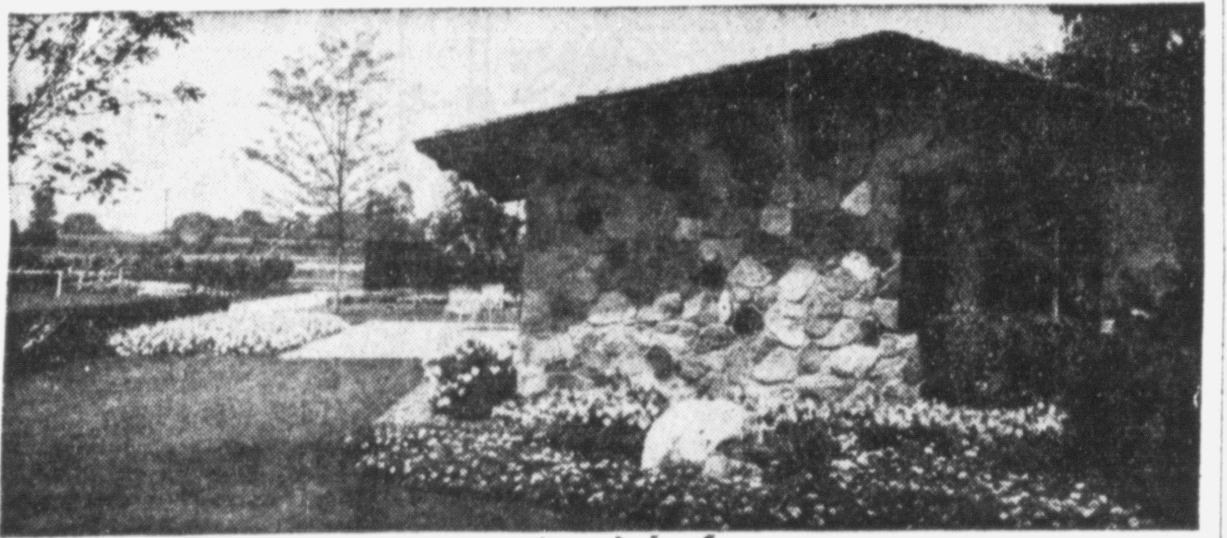

SPECIMENS

1. Tulip: single, one bloom, any color; 2. Tulip: double, one bloom, any color; 3. Tulip: parrot, one bloom, any color; 4. Narcissus: trumpet, one bloom, any color; 5. Narcissus: small cup, one bloom, any color; 6. Narcissus: one stem with multiple bloom, any color; 7. Peony: one bloom, single, any color; 8. Peony: one bloom, double, any color.

Entries must be made between 9:30 and 11 a. m. and only one will be accepted in each class from any one exhibitor. Specimen containers must be furnished by the exhibitor.

The club will not be responsible for loss or breakage. However care will be taken to prevent such loss. Accessories and bases will be considered part of arrangements.

All entries will be judged by an accredited judge and all classes will be judged first, second, third and honorable mention, with ribbons and cash awards.

Mrs. Rustin Out To Prove Azaleas Can Grow in Ohio

A SOUTHERNER AND HER PLANTS — Mrs. Robert Rustin, 680 Ridgewood Drive, was homesick for some of the plants that she loved back in Virginia. She decided she would try azaleas and rhododendrons just to see if they would survive in Pickaway County. Thus far she is having good luck. Mrs. Rustin knelt beside the thriving rhododendron to show the garden editor just how well she was succeeding.

Mrs. Robert Rustin, 680 Ridgewood Drive, hails from Virginia Beach.

That's where camellias and rhododendrons and the azaleas grow to perfection and where holly trees reach gigantic proportions. She wanted those things at her Ohio home.

And even when experts around here discouraged her she maintained she was going to try anyhow. So she does indeed have rhododendron and azaleas planted on her casual woody lot. They are not large but they are holding their own. And the azaleas are blooming now.

She says that last fall her rhododendrons began to look a little peaked. What's more Bob Cole's rhododendrons also looked a bit anemic. Cole is a near neighbor to the Rustins.

HE HEADS Cole Nursery in Pickaway Township. He of course knew what to do. So the rhododendrons at both places got dosages of iron chelates and sulphur and other things besides. The result was most satisfactory.

The Rustin azaleas are young

New Daffodil Book Due At Library

The Daffodil Handbook edited by George S. Lee Jr. and published by the American Horticultural Society will make its appearance in the Pickaway County District Library shortly.

The book will be the gift of Mrs. Reginald Blue, Chillicothe daffodil fancier and former member of the Pickaway County Garden Club. Last week she presented it to the club which in turn plans to give it to the library for general use.

The book is a hard bound 228-page volume profusely illustrated with black and white photographs and many drawings. There is one color reproduction.

Just about everything worth knowing concerning daffodils is to be found in this newly published book. It takes up the 11 divisions of the daffodil family in the chapter entitled, "Kinds of Daffodils."

There's a chapter on Narcissus species. There are several chapters on Regional Culture and Wild Hybrids, including our own Corn Belt Region.

There's a chapter on daffodil diseases. Daffodils are generally thought to be relatively free of disease and pests.

We will quote one paragraph from this very important chapter. "Do not become alarmed at the number of diseases discussed therein. The hobbyist should seldom encounter more than two or three as serious problems."

"In general he should have very little trouble if he will only buy his plants from a reliable source) plant in a well treated and well drained soil without excessive amounts nitrogen and phosphorus or organic matter; promptly remove infected plants if virus symptoms appear; spray as soon as any leaf or flower disease develops; remove flowers promptly after blooming; dig and replant in a new location at least every other year. These simple procedures will permit daffodils to be a joy instead of a burden."

The handbook is sent free of charge to all members of the American Daffodil Society if dues are paid before June 1.

At Moscow University, members of the Voluntary People's Guard for the Preservation of Social Order sometimes search rooms at midnight for illegal residents.

But the flower show itself was in competent hands. It was a truly lovely show. And it was a shame if anybody missed it.

Mrs. Clarence Allison, Lancaster Pike, has a Christmas cactus which is blooming profusely now. This wonderful plant does indeed usually bloom at Christmas time but its period of bloom is long. Sometimes the blossoms linger well into spring. But it is rare for it to bloom profusely this late.

Mrs. Turney Pontius missed exhibits in the flower show for the first time in a good many years. She attended the show however. And she had some prize winning tulips in her garden. She had also planned to exhibit a date palm that she had raised from a seed.

There were a couple of specimens of the Norse Fire plant in the show. They were not in bloom but are very attractive merely as a vining plant. When in blossom they are magnificent. This is a rather new houseplant. Be on the lookout for it.

Mrs. Charles Pugsley, Route 2, Mrs. Charles Pugsley, Route 2 autumn planted tulips did not put in their appearance this spring. What a horticultural tragedy! Just cannot understand this. I have had several such complaints.

I was horrified to see that the American Daffodil Society advocated digging and replanting daffodils at least every other year. Mercy, what a chore! And this advice when clumps of daffodils have been known to exist for 50 years in one spot!

Now these dedicated plant society people are perfectionists. They must mean to do this with show daffodils.

Fleet Chief Sees Europe As Top Red Hot Spot

PARIS (AP) — "Despite the current preoccupation with Viet Nam, Europe remains the arena of the greatest possible confrontation with the Communists," says Vice Adm. Frederick L. Ashworth the new commander of the U.S. 6th Fleet.

"Europe is the area where the West and the Communist bloc could clash on a big scale, and this is what we hope to prevent," Ashworth said in an interview before leaving Paris to take over his new command today at Villefranche-sur-Mer, on the French Riviera.

The lanky salt-water, airman who was aboard the B29 which dropped the atomic bomb on Nagasaki said he believes in the principle that "the primary purpose of atomic weapons is to prevent war, not to wage it."

He regards the awesome strike force of the 6th Fleet — with its Polaris submarines carrying nuclear-tipped missiles and its planes capable of carrying atomic bomb — to be an effective deterrent to any Soviet thrust against Western Europe.

Ashworth noted that the deterrent power of the West has brought peace and stability to Europe for 20 years, allowing it to reach an unprecedented level of prosperity.

The admiral said French withdrawal from the North Atlantic alliance's military commands would have virtually no effect on the operation of the 6th Fleet, which patrols the Mediterranean.

"In peacetime we are under American operational control," he said, "and we are not tied to" any shore installation. We have been and remain an autonomous mobile force.

"We have had excellent working arrangements with the French navy in the past, and I hope these will continue. We have had visiting privileges in various French ports, and we have had occasional joint maneuvers. I assume and hope that all this will continue."

The 6th Fleet includes two carriers, two missile-armed cruisers, about 20 destroyers, eight submarines and a force of some 25,000 men. Its manpower includes a battalion of Marines available for duty anywhere along the shores of the Mediterranean in case of trouble.

Mrs. Rustin kneels beside the thriving rhododendron to show the garden editor just how well she was succeeding.

Mrs. Robert Rustin, 680 Ridgewood Drive, hails from Virginia Beach.

That's where camellias and rhododendrons and the azaleas grow to perfection and where holly trees reach gigantic proportions. She wanted those things at her Ohio home.

And even when experts around here discouraged her she maintained she was going to try anyhow. So she does indeed have rhododendrons and azaleas planted on her casual woody lot. They are not large but they are holding their own. And the azaleas are blooming now.

She says that last fall her rhododendrons began to look a little peaked. What's more Bob Cole's rhododendrons also looked a bit anemic. Cole is a near neighbor to the Rustins.

HE HEADS Cole Nursery in Pickaway Township. He of course knew what to do. So the rhododendrons at both places got dosages of iron chelates and sulphur and other things besides. The result was most satisfactory.

The Rustin azaleas are young

New Daffodil Book Due At Library

The Daffodil Handbook edited by George S. Lee Jr. and published by the American Horticultural Society will make its appearance in the Pickaway County District Library shortly.

The book will be the gift of Mrs. Reginald Blue, Chillicothe daffodil fancier and former member of the Pickaway County Garden Club. Last week she presented it to the club which in turn plans to give it to the library for general use.

The book is a hard bound 228-page volume profusely illustrated with black and white photographs and many drawings. There is one color reproduction.

Just about everything worth knowing concerning daffodils is to be found in this newly published book. It takes up the 11 divisions of the daffodil family in the chapter entitled, "Kinds of Daffodils."

There's a chapter on Narcissus species. There are several chapters on Regional Culture and Wild Hybrids, including our own Corn Belt Region.

There's a chapter on daffodil diseases. Daffodils are generally thought to be relatively free of disease and pests.

We will quote one paragraph from this very important chapter. "Do not become alarmed at the number of diseases discussed therein. The hobbyist should seldom encounter more than two or three as serious problems."

"In general he should have very little trouble if he will only buy his plants from a reliable source) plant in a well treated and well drained soil without excessive amounts nitrogen and phosphorus or organic matter; promptly remove infected plants if virus symptoms appear; spray as soon as any leaf or flower disease develops; remove flowers promptly after blooming; dig and replant in a new location at least every other year. These simple procedures will permit daffodils to be a joy instead of a burden."

The handbook is sent free of charge to all members of the American Daffodil Society if dues are paid before June 1.

At Moscow University, members of the Voluntary People's Guard for the Preservation of Social Order sometimes search rooms at midnight for illegal residents.

Mrs. Rustin has a perennial border she is getting started. The daisies and blue spirea and baby's breath were coming up. There are climbing Blaze roses in back. Near the garage is a small garden where seeds are planted.

The Rustin grounds comprise about three fourths of an acre. Plenty of room for the Rustin youngsters and their playmates — plus plenty of space for somebody from Virginia Beach to try her hand at growing rhododendron and azaleas and holly in Pickaway County.

Garden Gossip

But the flower show itself was in competent hands. It was a truly lovely show. And it was a shame if anybody missed it.

Mrs. Clarence Allison, Lancaster Pike, has a Christmas cactus which is blooming profusely now. This wonderful plant does indeed usually bloom at Christmas time but its period of bloom is long. Sometimes the blossoms linger well into spring. But it is rare for it to bloom profusely this late.

Mrs. Turney Pontius missed exhibits in the flower show for the first time in a good many years. She attended the show however. And she had some prize winning tulips in her garden. She had also planned to exhibit a date palm that she had raised from a seed.

There were a couple of specimens of the Norse Fire plant in the show. They were not in bloom but are very attractive merely as a vining plant. When in blossom they are magnificent. This is a rather new houseplant. Be on the lookout for it.

Mrs. Charles Pugsley, Route 2, Mrs. Charles Pugsley, Route 2, autumn planted tulips did not put in their appearance this spring. What a horticultural tragedy! Just cannot understand this. I have had several such complaints.

I was horrified to see that the American Daffodil Society advocated digging and replanting daffodils at least every other year. Mercy, what a chore! And this advice when clumps of daffodils have been known to exist for 50 years in one spot!

Now these dedicated plant society people are perfectionists. They must mean to do this with show daffodils.

Fleet Chief Sees Europe As Top Red Hot Spot

PARIS (AP) — "Despite the current preoccupation with Viet Nam, Europe remains the arena of the greatest possible confrontation with the Communists," says Vice Adm. Frederick L. Ashworth the new commander of the U.S. 6th Fleet.

"Europe is the area where the West and the Communist bloc could clash on a big scale, and this is what we hope to prevent," Ashworth said in an interview before leaving Paris to take over his new command today at Villefranche-sur-Mer, on the French Riviera.

The lanky salt-water, airman who was aboard the B29 which dropped the atomic bomb on Nagasaki said he believes in the principle that "the primary purpose of atomic weapons is to prevent war, not to wage it."

He regards the awesome strike force of the 6th Fleet — with its Polaris submarines carrying nuclear-tipped missiles and its planes capable of carrying atomic bomb — to be an effective deterrent to any Soviet thrust against Western Europe.

Ashworth noted that the deterrent power of the West has brought peace and stability to Europe for 20 years, allowing it to reach an unprecedented level of prosperity.

The admiral said French withdrawal from the North Atlantic alliance's military commands would have virtually no effect on the operation of the 6th Fleet, which patrols the Mediterranean.

"In peacetime we are under American operational control," he said, "and we are not tied to any shore installation. We have been and remain an autonomous mobile force.

"We have had excellent working arrangements with the French navy in the past, and I hope these will continue. We have had visiting privileges in various French ports, and we have had occasional joint maneuvers. I assume and hope that all this will continue."

The 6th Fleet includes two carriers, two missile-armed cruisers, about 20 destroyers, eight submarines and a force of some 25,000 men. Its manpower includes a battalion of Marines available for duty anywhere along the shores of the Mediterranean in case of trouble.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is some uncertainty about all of them: weather, dollars, barbs and bullets.

In this strange spring of hot and cold, President Johnson has avoided a shouting match with his critics about the war in Viet Nam. But Wednesday he unleashed a few rather mild barbs of his own.

But, having done this much, there is no indication he intends doing much more in this field himself. He has let others state most of the case for him, like the secretaries of state and defense.

But when Dean Rusk and Robert S. McNamara go before the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee, their statements get scrambled in arguments between them and the senators.

What Johnson did Wednesday was to take a sort of sideswipe at Sen. J. W. Fulbright, the critical chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, without once naming him.

In answer to Fulbright, who had thrown words like "arrogance of power" at Johnson, the President simply said, "The exercise of power in this century has meant for the United States not arrogance but agony."

Johnson doesn't seem inclined to go beyond that kind of answer, limited as it was.

He may believe Fulbright and those who agree with him are only a small percentage of the population and therefore don't need any stronger answers than they are getting, which for some critics of the critics isn't enough.

Wellston Turkey Plant To Hire 800—Rhodes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes has announced that the Ralston Purina Co. will employ at least 800 at a new turkey processing plant being built in Wellston. The plant, on a 250-acre tract, will process whole turkeys and is expected to be in production in 1967.

So what lies ahead in this field is uncertain.

But it is not more uncertain than what Johnson will think it necessary to do to stop inflation if only because the inflation question itself is full of uncertainty at this moment.

Johnson is known to believe that whether or not the government feels it must take action — like a tax increase to drain off spendable dollars — depend on these main factors:

Will Congress wind up voting to spend far more money than Johnson asked for or thinks is good for the economy? Will labor content itself with limited wage demands? And will business be satisfied not to boost prices?

And at this point, despite the increasing buildup of American forces in South Viet Nam, there is some uncertainty about what may happen since there is uncertainty about what the Vietnamese people may do.

That applies particularly to the Buddhists who reportedly lunged into strategy conferences when they heard that South Viet Nam's Premier Nguyen Cao Ky said he expects to remain boss for another year.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio House of Representatives will have new desks for members, additional lighting and platforms for filming sessions when the 107th General Assembly convenes next Jan. 2.

The Rules Committee, acting under Speaker Robert Reckman-R-Hamilton, gave the go-ahead the improvements at a meeting here.

Members said additional facilities for live television broadcasts of working session were not included in the change.

The membership in the 1967 House was reduced from 137 to 99 members under reapportionment. A total of 104 new desks will be installed under the improvement program, which can be expanded to accommodate 136 members if the makeup of the House should be enlarged in the future, committee members said.

'Death' of Mao Reported Frequently These Days

EDITOR'S NOTE — AP correspondent John Roderick spent a total of six months during 1945-47 in Yenan while it was the Chinese Communists' capital. There he met Mao Te-tung on many occasions.

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — The message said "Mao Te-tung reported dead. Please check." The year was 1946.

Now 72 years old, the chairman of the Chinese Communist party has perhaps had more demises and resurrections — on paper — than any other world figure.

Mao has emerged again after a six-month absence from public view during which all the old rumors and speculation were aired. Two photographs of him with Albanian Premier Mehmet Shehu somewhere in China show him in obvious good humor.

looking healthier than ever, somewhat less gaunt than he seemed in photographs last year.

Despite this, U.S. officials in Washington continue to believe Mao's health is bad and power is slipping from his hands.

They may have some intelligence not available elsewhere. But there is nothing to be seen in Tokyo to support this, unless it is the actuarial tables on likelihood of illness. They are high for 72 year olds.

The view here, based on an intensive study of Chinese publications and an analysis of the reports of diplomats and travelers from the mainland, is that Mao has not exercised day-to-day control of the government or party since 1959.

In that year, he stepped down as chairman, or president, of the Chinese People's Republic for the avowed purpose of devoting more time to the large aspects of Chinese Communist policy and problems.

He turned over the protocol and social functions inherent in the presidency to his heir apparent, Liu Shao-chi. The working of the government already had been securely placed in the hands of Premier Chou En-lai and a veteran administration. Since then, Mao's absences from Peking have been more frequent and for longer durations. Generally he has sought the peace and quiet of the shimmering West Lake at Hangchow to work over his theories.

The results of his research have generally become apparent in the form of new rectification drives, campaigns to place the party in total control of the army, or movements, such as the one now in progress, to purge intellectuals, newspapermen, youth groups, the army and the party itself of those who waver toward the policies of the Soviet Communist party.

Kid Pitches From Knees, Is Doing OK

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Young Donny Warn pitches a mean fast ball.

In a vacant lot near his home, Donny drops his crutches, bends to the ground, falls to his knees and throws his fast ball.

Donny, 13, can't stand and pitch. Because of polio, he wears stiff metal braces and gets around on crutches.

But he does have a wicked fast ball thrown from his knees. Other players in Donny's vacant lot league don't baby Donny. Sisters Audrey and Joyce, brother Pow-Wow, and friends shout their encouragement, but chide him for a poor pitch.

Finally, Donny goes into the batter's box, crutches under his arms to prop him up, and takes a good cut at a ball thrown by Pow-Wow. He smacks it, clearly hit, but foul.

"I can hit it most of the time," Donny will say. "I hit pretty well, too. Someone does my running for me."

"I guess I bat all right, but I'd rather pitch."

Donny, who has nine brothers and sisters, was afflicted with the disease nine years ago. Doctors say he will never walk again without the aid of braces.

3 Still Unbeaten In Big Ten Race

CHICAGO (AP)—Three teams are still unbeaten as the Big Ten baseball race enters its fourth weekend of conference play, although Minnesota, tops with eight wins, has been tied once.

Michigan (7-0) is at Iowa (3-4) in a single game Friday while the Gophers match their 2-0-1 slate against Michigan State (5-3) at Minneapolis and Ohio State (5-0) plays Illinois (3-4) at Champaign.

Indiana (3-3) meets cellar-dwelling Purdue (0-5-1) at Lafayette, Ind., and Northwestern (1-8) visits Wisconsin (2-7).

Army Names Frosh Coach To Be No. 1

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Army has finally named its new football coach, promoting a veteran from the ranks.

Tom Cahill, West Point's freshman coach for seven years, was appointed Wednesday night to fill the vacancy created when Paul Dietzel abruptly packed up and left the Military Academy five weeks ago to become South Carolina's football coach and athletic director.

Braves, Mustangs Dominate Brookhaven Sectional Meet

Logan Elm High School qualified contestants in 10 events for the district track meet and Westfall will have boys competing in nine events.

The district is scheduled Saturday at Gahanna Lincoln High School. The preliminaries will get under way at 1:30 p. m. and the finals at 7 p. m.

Glenn Forrest of Logan Elm was a double winner in the sectional Wednesday at Brookhaven High School. He won the broad jump with a leap of 18 feet 7 1/2 inches and the 220-yard dash in 23.9 seconds.

Tom Karshner of Logan Elm paced the 880 in 2:10.5, qualifying first in that event. He also qualified in the high jump. Teammate Buddy McAfee also qualified in the high jump.

THE LOGAN ELM mile relay team finished second yesterday to earn a place in district competition.

Other Logan Elm athletes who will be moving into district action include Gary Courtright, who qualified in both the pole vault and the 180-yard low hurdles, Mike Radabaugh in the discus, Rick Rawlins in the shot and Larry Stant in the 2-mile run.

For Westfall, Dick Cook won the 440-yard dash in 53.7. He also qualified in the 220-yard dash, running second to Logan Elm's Forrest.

Larry Keller earned a spot in the pole vault and in the low hurdles. In the two-mile run, both Jeff Tomlinson and Jim Lett qualified for the Mustangs.

Jim Garrett qualified in the 880 yard run, Bob Timmons in the high hurdles and Bob Barnes in the mile run.

In addition, the Westfall mile relay team will be competing in the event.

SECTIONALS yesterday were held at Walnut Ridge, Marion and Lancaster in addition to Brookhaven.

Baseball Tilt Is Postponed Due to Rain

Rain once again washed out a Circleville High School baseball game.

A scheduled tilt with Washington C. H. was postponed late Wednesday afternoon when it began to shower. The tilt has not yet been rescheduled.

The game at Greenfield Monday that was postponed because of wet grounds has been rescheduled for May 17.

With yesterday's washout, Circleville now has two postponed South Central Ohio League games which have not been rescheduled.

THE OTHER tilt is with Wilmington. Friday, the Hurricane was involved in a tournament game and had to postpone the league tilt with the Tigers.

With the end of the school year fast drawing near, faculty manager Paul Sarchet is finding it increasingly difficult to find open dates satisfactory to both Circleville and its two foes for these rained out contests.

Weather permitting, the Tiger team will travel to Hillsboro Friday.

The next home game is May 18 when Hillsboro comes to Ted Lewis Park for a game.

IL's Second Division Fails To Draw Fans

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There's nothing like the combination of losing baseball and cold weather to keep all but the hardest fan away from the ball park.

Such was the case Wednesday night in the International League, where the four second division clubs played at home in near-freezing temperatures. The result was a total turnout of 1,433 persons.

At Buffalo, the league-leading Columbus Jets whipped the last-place Bisons 4-1 before a crowd of 350.

Just 283 were on hand at Toronto to see the Maple Leafs end Toledo's six-game winning streak 6-0, the crowd was 334 at Syracuse as the Chiefs halted the Jacksonville Suns 7-3, and a crowd of 466 turned out at Rochester to watch the Red Wings edge the Richmond Braves 4-3.

Left-hander Jim Shellenback stopped Buffalo on five hits, two of them doubles by the newly acquired Lee Maye. Mickey Harrington, picked up by Columbus in a trade Tuesday with Syracuse for Pancho Herrera, belted a two-run home run and two singles for the Jets.

Rookie southpaw Bill MacLeod of Toronto stopped Toledo on three hits and also contributed a bases-empty homer. Tony Torton hit a two-run home run and Owen Johnson a solo roundtripper for the Leafs.

NEW YORK (AP)—Here are the college players selected by the Cincinnati Royals in Wednesday's National Basketball Association draft:

1, Walt Wesley, Kansas; 2, Jerry Lee Wells, Oklahoma City; 3, James Ware, Oklahoma City; 4, Charles Schmaus, V.M.I.; 5, Rick Parks, St. Louis; 6, Steve Cunningham, Western Kentucky; 7, Gary Snull, Florida State; 8, Ron Krick, Cincinnati.

Ohio basketball players drafted by other clubs include Dick Snyder of Davidson, a native of Canton, by St. Louis; Roland West of Cincinnati, by Baltimore; Brian Williams of Xavier, by St. Louis; Henry Finkel of Dayton by Los Angeles and Ken Wilburn of Central (Ohio) State, by Philadelphia.

chairman, reports that Kiwanis members have been contacting sponsors for the 34 classes which will make up the three s e s s i o n show and this list is now complete. Mrs. Allen Ankrom, show secretary, has mailed prize lists to prospective exhibitors in a five state area served by the Tri-State Horse Shows Assn. of which the local show is a part.

Assisting Kiwanis in planning are members of Pickaway Saddle and Bridle Club. Members of this group who serve as the executive committee are, in addition to Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Ankrom, Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Poling, Marvin Reichelderfer, Susan LeValley, Starkey, Dr. F. P. Dunlap and Harold Hoffman. Robert Wilson serves as treasurer for the Show.

Show Sessions will be conducted at the Fairgrounds on the evening, May 28 and the afternoon and evening of May 29.

KIWANIS SHOW — The fifth annual Kiwanis Charity Horse Show has been scheduled for May 28 and 29. Ralph Starkey, who will serve as ring master, is shown here placing dates on a white horse sign used to publicize the event.

McDowell Aims For Fifth Win

CLEVELAND (AP) — Weather permitting, the duel between southpaw Sam McDowell (4-0) of the Cleveland Indians and right-hander Dennis McLain (4-1) of the Detroit Tigers will be staged tonight at Cleveland Stadium.

The two were scheduled to start Wednesday night in the second game of a scheduled three-game series, but the contest was postponed because of rain and cold weather. It was rescheduled for July 24 as part of a Sunday doubleheader.

Fayette Horsemen Slate Matinee

WASHINGTON C. H. — Plans for the annual beef barbecue-harness racing matinee May 22 at the Fayette County Fair-ground are being completed.

Tickets are being sold in advance. Those who can't get there in time for the barbecue — serving from 11 a. m. until 2 p. m. — can see the races.

As of now, eight and possibly nine heats are in prospect.

Almost certain to be programmed are a dash for 2-year-old pacers, one for 2-year-old trotters and one for 3-year-old trotters. Five or six dashes will be scheduled for veteran campaigners.

More than 100 horses have been in late winter and spring training at the Fairgrounds and most of them will be facing the starting gate at the matinee. Post time will be 2 p. m.

Michigan Star Tops List on Pro Basketball Draft

NEW YORK (AP) — Cassie Russell of Michigan comes out of Wednesday's National Basketball Association draft as the No. 1 college player in the country — to the surprise of nobody.

The New York Knickerbockers, who had won first pick on the flip of a coin with the Detroit Pistons, really never hesitated in picking Russell.

"We felt this was the guy all along," said general manager Eddie Donovan of the Knicks. "After we won the toss we knew this was the man we wanted. He has a strong body and great basketball knowledge."

"We expect to try him at guard although he has the ability to be a forward, too. His forte is not shooting. He's just a well-rounded player."

"I spent a couple of hours with him at Ann Arbor about a week ago and I have a feeling he will play with us. I was very impressed by him as an individual."

Russell, who says he also has an offer from the Harlem Globetrotters, said he would make a decision next week.

The Pistons also wanted Russell but settled for Dave Bing of Syracuse as the No. 2 pick among the 79 players selected by the 10 clubs.

The pros naturally put the emphasis on size. Russell is 6-foot-5½ and 218 pounds. Bing is 6-3 and 185.

Clyde Lee of Vanderbilt, 6-9, 220, already has made plans to play with a company team in Milan, Italy. However, after he was picked by San Francisco in the first round, he said he would talk about pro ball in the near future.

Matt Guokas of St. Joseph's in Philadelphia had said he planned to play college ball another year but he might change his mind, too, after being taken in the first round by Philadelphia.

Bill Russell, new coach of the Boston Celtics, made his first appearance in the job as he and general manager Red Auerbach, the retiring coach, picked Jim Barnett of Oregon, 6-4, 180, as their first-round draftee.

Jerry Chambers, who led Utah to the Far West regional title in the NCAA competition, said he was shocked to learn the Los Angeles Lakers made him their No. 1 pick. "I'm happy but I thought Cincinnati or St. Louis would take me first," he said. "But it's great. I used to play against Elgin Baylor back home in Washington, D.C."

Walt Wesley, 6-11, 235, was the biggest man taken in the first round. The big boy from Kansas went to the Cincinnati Royals. Dave Schellhase of Purdue, the nation's top college scorer, lasted until Chicago got

Fairfield High School Signs Batavia Coach

FAIRFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Fairfield High School has hired new football and basketball coaches for next season.

Robert Clouson, a graduate of West Virginia University and coach of the highly successful Batavia High School team, will take over as head basketball coach. The new football coach is John O'Rourke, who has been coaching at Plain City.

Dodger attack against the Phillies.

The rookie right-hander struck out eight, walked only one and drove in the only run he needed in the third inning when he singled after catcher John Roseboro had doubled.

Kon Fairly drove in two runs with a sixth inning single and Sutton contributed his third hit to another two-run Dodger rally in the ninth.

Atlanta '9' Resolves To Start Winning

Bragan Gives Talk, Aaron Homers and Reds Fall, 8-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Manager Bobby Bragan walked out of a clubhouse meeting and proudly proclaimed, "We resolved to start winning."

And the Atlanta Braves did just that.

But then it's easy when you have Hank Aaron on your side.

Aaron hammered two home runs and drove in five runs as Atlanta ended a losing string at five games with an 8-1 victory over Cincinnati Wednesday night.

Bragan called a 20-minute meeting before the game.

"I told them the pitchers are pitching and the hitters are better than they have been hitting," the Atlanta manager said.

"And I told them the manager is better than he has been managing."

So Tony Cloninger took care of the pitching, Aaron handled the hitting and Bragan hardly had to do any managing as Atlanta rocked the Reds.

Aaron's two home runs were his 10th and 11th this season and upped his career total to 409, 10th on the all-time list.

He tagged his first of the night over the left field wall with a man on in the first and then reached almost the same spot with two on in the fifth.

Both of Aaron's shots and one by Joe Torre came off Sammy Ellis, who lost for the fifth time in six games.

Elsewhere in the National League, Houston downed New York 6-4, San Francisco stretched its winning streak to 10 games with a 6-1 victory over Pittsburgh and Los Angeles blanked Philadelphia 5-0.

In the American League, Kansas City edged Boston 6-5 in 10 innings, Chicago shaded Baltimore 3-2 in 11 innings and California nipped Washington 7-6 in 10 innings.

Barry Latman pitched 6 1-3 innings of two-hit relief and Rusty Staub and Jim Wynn hammered home runs that lifted Houston past the Mets. Wynn's three-run shot in the fifth put the Astros on top to stay.

Gaylord Perry won his fifth straight with a six-hitter and Willie Mays hit his 514th career homer for the Giants.

Mays' two-run homer in the ninth completed San Francisco's scoring after a pair of doubles by Tom Haller helped build the Giants' early lead.

Don Sutton pitched Los Angeles' first shutout of the season and contributed three hits to the 10th and last pick in the first round.

Other first round picks were Lou Hudson of Minnesota, by St. Louis, and Jack Marlin of Duke, by Baltimore. Hudson is a top-flight scorer who suffered a broken hand in early season and played only 17 games.

Police Hint Woman Slain By 'Friend'

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—Investigators probing the weekend slaying of Mrs. Lisbeth (Lisa) Davenport, 32, of suburban Columbus have taken under serious consideration the possibility the killer was someone she knew.

Dr. Byron F. Voorhees, Hancock County coroner, said absence of any sign of struggle in the blonde victim's automobile could well "lead you to believe" she knew her assailant.

Results of an autopsy in Columbus Wednesday determined she had been shot four times, rather than twice as first thought.

Voorhees and police here and in Upper Arlington, Mrs. Davenport's home, would not say if any bullets had been recovered from the body.

Neither did they deny they had any bullets, which would provide possibly the best clue since the murder was discovered early Tuesday.

That's when Findlay police opened the trunk of the car that had been parked downtown here since early Saturday—the auto in which the English-born Mrs. Davenport supposedly drove away alone from Columbus at about 6 p.m. Friday.

Dr. Voorhees, Findlay Police Chief Wayne Ethell, Upper Arlington Police and officers of the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation planned to meet today to compare notes on findings to date.

Edwin Davenport, 30, a savings and loan company employee, has told investigators his wife dropped him off at a friend's Friday evening, saying she was going to visit acquaintances in Lima.

Police said Tuesday night that Davenport's account of his whereabouts Friday night and early Saturday appeared to check out.

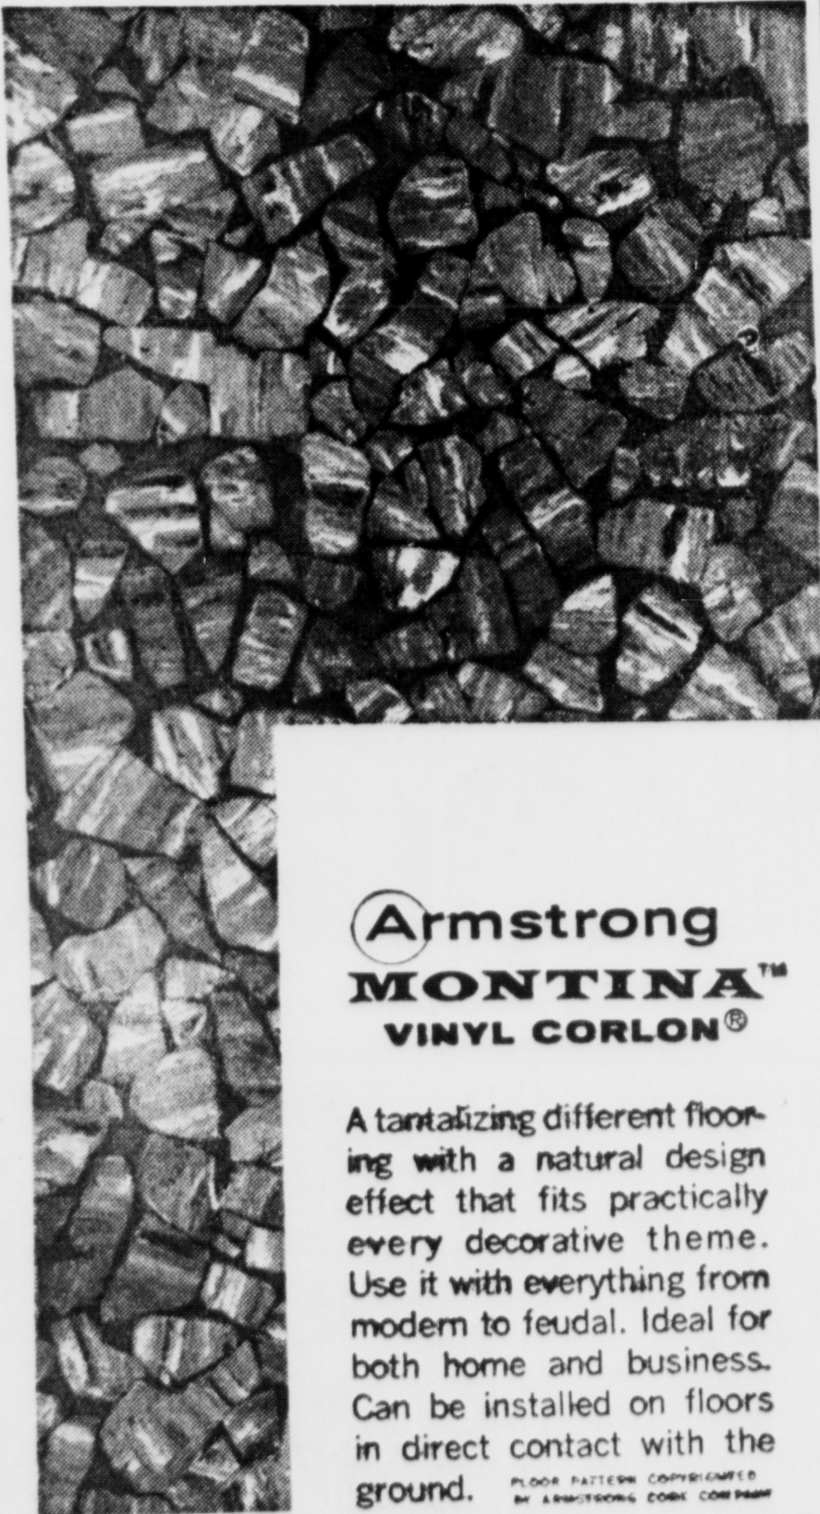

Dr. Voorhees said any one of the four shots, evidently from a weapon of about .38 caliber, that struck Mrs. Davenport would have killed her.

The victim was not molested.

Where the shooting took place also remained a mystery.

Davenport turned over to police a .38 caliber revolver, a shotgun and an antique rifle and allowed them to search his home.

Giant panda bears, despite their gentle appearance, don't flourish in captivity. Only eight are known to live in zoos scattered around the globe — four in Communist China, one in England, one in Russia and two in Korea.

House Passes Medical Bill For Military

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed 356 to 0 a bill to broaden and increase medical benefits for active and retired military personnel and their dependents.

The administration backed measure, which now goes to the Senate, carries an estimated price tag in excess of $1 billion over a five-year period. It would go into effect next July 1.

In addition to providing for medical treatment in civilian hospitals, the bill sets up a program for the care, training and special education of handicapped children of active duty personnel.

The major departure from the existing medical care program enacted in 1956 would allow retired personnel and their dependents to receive care in civilian hospitals.

All the new programs would be on a cost-sharing basis, with the patient paying part of the bill.

VFW Poppy Sale Scheduled Here Friday, Saturday

Circleville's Veterans of Foreign Wars Post will conduct its annual Buddy Poppies sale Friday and Saturday in the downtown area.

Mayor Ben H. Gordon has issued a proclamation urging citizens of the community to recognize merits of the project by purchasing poppies. Proceeds are used exclusively for the benefit of disabled and needy veterans and widows and orphans of deceased veterans.

Basic purpose of the yearly VFW Buddy Poppies program is the desire to "honor the dead by helping the living." The project has been endorsed by President Johnson and the Veterans Administration.

Mayor Gordon urges all patriotic residents to wear a poppy as evidence of gratitude to the men who have risked their lives in defense of the freedoms enjoyed in America.

And who could afford one? The National Aeronautics and Space Administration doesn't put a price tag on its space-ships, but, generally speaking, the two-man Gemini vehicles cost about $25 million each, and the one-man Mercury capsules, about $7.5 million.

NASA has a growing stockpile of once-flown spaceships. The agency has launched 16 manned and unmanned capsules.

Though structurally sound, officials choose not to fly them again.

Most of the vehicles have found their final resting places in museums or display rooms. Some are taken on tours in the United States and abroad.

Officials advance several reasons for not wanting to rocket a man into space aboard a second-hand capsule. In the long run, they say, it is cheaper to build a new one.

Toledo Brewery Aides End 9-Day Walkout

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A Nine-day-old strike by union brewers, bottlers, drivers and warehousemen was settled Wednesday night, averting a beer shortage that had threatened to develop in the Toledo area.

Three locals of the United Brewery Workers Union of Toledo were to resume work today for the Buckeye Brewery Co. and 10 distributors. Settlement came as many area taverns reported they were reaching bottom of stocks of beer supplied before the strike started May 2. Terms of a new contract were not disclosed.

Police Hint Woman Slain By 'Friend'

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—Investigators probing the weekend slaying of Mrs. Lisbeth (Lisa) Davenport, 32, of suburban Columbus have taken under serious consideration the possibility the killer was someone she knew.

Dr. Byron F. Voorhees, Hancock County coroner, said absence of any sign of struggle in the blonde victim's automobile could well "lead you to believe" she knew her assailant.

Results of an autopsy in Columbus Wednesday determined she had been shot four times, rather than twice as first thought.

Voorhees and police here and in Upper Arlington, Mrs. Davenport's home, would not say if any bullets had been recovered from the body.

Neither did they deny they had any bullets, which would provide possibly the best clue since the murder was discovered early Tuesday.

That's when Findlay police opened the trunk of the car that had been parked downtown here since early Saturday—the auto in which the English-born Mrs. Davenport supposedly drove away alone from Columbus at about 6 p.m. Friday.

Dr. Voorhees, Findlay Police Chief Wayne Ethell, Upper Arlington Police and officers of the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation planned to meet today to compare notes on findings to date.

Edwin Davenport, 30, a savings and loan company employee, has told investigators his wife dropped him off at a friend's Friday evening, saying she was going to visit acquaintances in Lima.

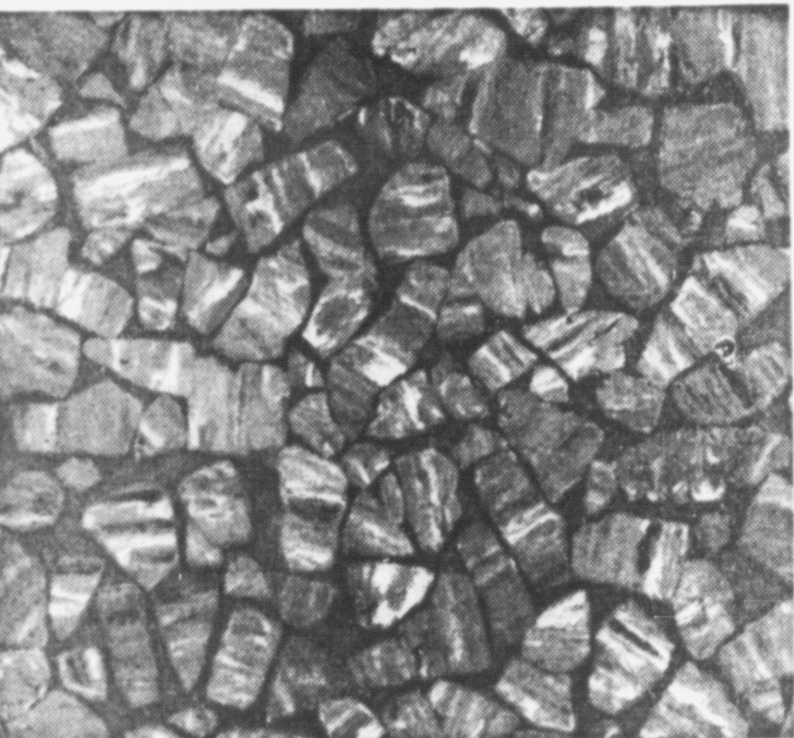

Police said Tuesday night that Davenport's account of his whereabouts Friday night and early Saturday appeared to check out.

Dr. Voorhees said any one of the four shots, evidently from a weapon of about .38 caliber, that struck Mrs. Davenport would have killed her.

The victim was not molested. Where the shooting took place also remained a mystery.

Davenport turned over to police a .38 caliber revolver, a shotgun and an antique rifle and allowed them to search his home.
